

Notes for contributors

Submissions. Whenever possible, to insure prompt review, manuscripts should be submitted electronically. Please e-mail attached files with subject header “submission for Corpus Linguistics and Linguistic Theory” to <cllt.editorial@degruyter.com>. Submissions to other e-mail addresses will only be accepted after prior consultation with one of the Editors-in-Chief. Platform independent formats (such as .pdf, .ps, and .rtf) are preferred. If you cannot submit electronically, please send four copies of the manuscript printed on A4 or letter-size paper to:

Anatol Stefanowitsch
Universität Bremen
FB 10 – Anglistik/Amerikanistik
Bibliothekstr. 1
28359 Bremen
Germany

Manuscripts are not returnable. Contributors should keep a copy for reference. Please be advised that paper submissions may take substantially longer to review.

Contributions should be in English (please use American spelling). Contributors whose native language is not English are asked to have their article carefully checked by a native speaker.

CORPUS LINGUISTICS AND LINGUISTIC THEORY does not require that authors conform to a specific format when submitting articles for review. However, please ensure that manuscripts are as reader-friendly as possible. Also please include as well an abstract of approximately 100 words placed before the text body of the manuscript.

Style requirements

(apply after acceptance of article)

Articles that are accepted for publication will need to conform to the following style requirements.

1. Contributions (approx. 50,000–60,000 characters, including punctuation, spaces, etc.) must be accompanied by 1) cover sheet listing: name(s) of the author(s); full institutional address, telephone, fax numbers, and e-mail address of the main author; short title of the article (for running head); size of the paper in total characters (including punctuation, spaces, etc.); 2) abstract of no more than 200 words, summarizing the whole paper, not just the conclusions; 3) a list of up to six keywords; 4) bionote (brief academic biography of the author in 50–75 words) on a separate sheet.

2. The main text of the article should be divided into sections, and if necessary, subsections, with numbered headings. Emphasized words or phrases should be italicized. Foreign words should also be italicized and followed by a translation in single quotation marks. Use double not single quotation marks throughout. Please avoid the use of boldface as far as possible. For data transcripts, please make sure that there are no more than 40 characters per line (including spaces).
3. Examples must be numbered consecutively with any gloss aligned, followed by the English translation in single quotation marks. Use tabs (not the space bar) to align examples and glosses. Please use italics only for examples in languages other than English:

Original language in italics.

Word-for-word gloss in roman type with correct alignment

‘Idiomatic translation in single quotation marks.’

4. Line drawings (called ‘Figures’ in the text) and photographs (called ‘Plates’ in the text) must be reproducible originals and should be submitted on separate sheets and placed at the end of the manuscript. Figures prepared in electronic form should be placed in separate files to the text files and clearly labeled. Hard copies must also be supplied. A note should be placed in the text to indicate the approximate placement of each figure and plate, e. g., ‘Figure 1 about here’. Figures and plates should be numbered separately, i. e., Figure 1, 2, 3 and Plate 1, 2, 3, etc. Captions to accompany all figures and plates should be typed on a separate sheet at the end of the article. All figures and plates must be cited in the text.
5. Tables should be numbered consecutively and titled, and must be referred to in the text.
6. Endnotes should be kept to an absolute minimum. They should be numbered consecutively throughout the article (not per page) and listed on a separate sheet entitled ‘Notes’ at the end of the article, preceding the References.
7. Citations in the text should give the surname of the author(s) or editor(s), year of publication, and page numbers where appropriate, in the following style:

Smith (2002) (Smith 2002: 250–253) (Smith et al. 2003: 10)
 (Smith 1979, 2001) (Smith and Jones 1976) (Smith 1970a, 1970b)
 (Smith 2000: 24) (Smith 1991; Jones 1992) (Smith 2004 [1992])

Use ‘et al.’ in cases of more than two authors. Do not use ‘ibid.’ or ‘op. cit.’ but repeat the author, date, and page citation. In referring to information from a particular work, please give the exact page numbers, e. g. (Smith 1979: 54–59), not ‘54 ff.’

8. All works cited in the text, and only those, must be fully listed in the Reference section at the end of the manuscript, in alphabetical order by author. First names of authors and editors are required. All entries for book publications must include place of publication and publisher. Please be sure to give the page numbers of articles in both books and journals as well as the volume and issue number in the case of journal articles; do not abbreviate the names of journals or book titles. Note the system of capitalization and punctuation in the following examples:

Book

Croft, William

2001 Radical Construction Grammar: Syntactic Theory in Typological Perspective. Oxford: Oxford University Press.

Article in a book

Jurafsky, Daniel, Alan Bell, Michelle Gregory and William D. Raymond

2001 Probabilistic relations between words: Evidence from reduction in lexical production. In Bybee, Joan and Paul Hopper (eds.), Frequency and the Emergence of Linguistic Structure. Amsterdam/Philadelphia: John Benjamins, 229–254.

Journal article

Bybee, Joan and Joanne Scheibman

1999 The effect of usage on degrees of constituency: The reduction of don't in English. Linguistics 37 (4), 575–596.

Dissertations and theses

Evert, Stefan

2004 The Statistics of Word Cooccurrences: Word Pairs and Collocations. Unpublished doctoral dissertation, University of Stuttgart.

9. Permissions: Copies of any letters granting permission to reproduce illustrations or tables from other sources, or lengthy quoted passages, must be included with the manuscript.
10. Corrections. Authors are asked to check their manuscripts very carefully before submitting them in order to prevent delays and extra costs at the proof stage. Authors will receive proofs for correction which must be returned by dates given in the publication schedule.
11. Complimentary copies. Contributors will be sent one complimentary copy (each). If there is more than one author, the copies (up to a maximum of three) will be sent to the first-named contributor for distribution.