

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I'M GRATEFUL TO many people who have helped me in the writing of this book.

The staff of dance companies and venues have found and confirmed all manner of details for me. I'd like to thank Deborah Moe of Boston Ballet, Katya Novikova of the Bolshoi Ballet, Erica Espling of Cullberg Ballet, Cindy Koopman of Dutch National Opera & Ballet, Sarah Lam of Houston Ballet, Kina Poons of New York City Ballet, Catherine Heuls, Jérôme Maurel and Thierry Messonnier of the Opéra national de Paris, Anna-Katerina Gravgaard of the Royal Danish Ballet and Abigail Desch and Eugénie Dunster of Sadler's Wells.

I'm grateful to my agent, Michael Alcock of Johnson & Alcock, for his encouragement, energy and gentle prodding. At Yale University Press I thank my very supportive editor, Robert Baldock; also Candida Brazil, Rachael Lonsdale, Lauren Atherton and my eagle-eyed copy-editor, Richard Mason.

For discussion, facts, suggestions and moral support, I thank Leo Anderson, Erik Aschengreen, Gerald Dowler, Judith Flanders, Beth Genné, Robert Greskovic, Veronica Horwell, Clare Jackson and Michael Firbank, David Jays, Andrea Lyons, Alastair Macaulay, Fiona Mountford, Claire Peposhi, Giannandrea Poesio, Nicola Rayner, John Snelson, Nicholas Southwell, Ivy Sparks, Emilia Spitz, Roslyn Sulcas (Forsythe detective extraordinaire), Graham Watts and Lisa Wells-Turner. I'm particularly grateful to Jonathan Gray for reading my manuscript and making invaluable suggestions and corrections.