The Institute of Southeast Asian Studies

Established as an autonomous corporation in May, 1968, the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies is a regional research centre for scholars and other specialists concerned with modern Southeast Asia. The Institute's research interests are focussed on the many-faceted problems of Modernization and Development and Political and Social Change in Southeast Asia.

The Institute is governed by a 24-member Board of Trustees on which are represented the University of Singapore and Nanyang University, appointees from the Government, as well as representatives from a broad range of professional and civic organizations and groups. A ten-man Executive Committee oversees day-to-day operations; it is ex officio chaired by the Director, the Institute's chief academic and administrative officer.

U.S. Energy-Security Interests in the Indian Ocean

by

M. Rajaretnam

Occasional Paper No. 34

Institute of Southeast Asian Studies

Price: S$5.00

Mr. Murugaiah Rajaretnam's "U.S. Energy-Security Interests in the Indian Ocean" is the thirty-fourth publication in the Institute's Occasional Papers series. This series was inaugurated in 1970 and for the most part consists of discussion and other papers presented at the Institute's Occasional and In-House seminars.

Let's hope that Mr. Rajaretnam's discussion of United State's interests in the Indian Ocean will be of interest to not only specialists but the larger public as well. In the meantime, while wishing Mr. Rajaretnam and his paper all the best, it is clearly understood that responsibility for facts and opinions expressed in the work that follows rests exclusively with Mr. Rajaretnam and his interpretations do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of the Institute or its supporters.
