RCMP surveillance of women’s organizations like the Voice of Women anti-nuclear protest predated the targeting of the women’s liberation movement. Duncan Cameron, Library and Archives of Canada, PA-209888.
Voice of Women march against Canadian complicity in the Vietnam War. The makeshift clothesline on the left is adorned with handmade clothing for Vietnamese children and a sign that reads “Dark Colours for Camouflage Purposes.” Library and Archives Canada R10202-0-4-E, Accession 1995-082, Box C 0339, Album no. 1, Page 10, Lil Greene fonds, by permission from Karen Greene.
RCMP security service memorandum from 1977, commenting on the relationship of the women's liberation movement to the political left that was replicated in a number of surveillance files. Library and Archives Canada, RG 146, access request A-2010-00312, Women's Liberation Movement–Manitoba, RCMP memorandum, 2 August 1977, 1.
The lead vehicle of the 1970 Abortion Caravan bore a coffin on its roof to symbolize the deaths of women from illegal abortions. Archives of Ontario Item Ref Code: C 193-2 strip 2296 #39.
An early RCMP security service surveillance report on the Vancouver Women’s Caucus that is mostly censored. Library and Archives Canada, RG 146, access request A2007-00198, volume 2914, Simon Fraser University Radical Women’s Caucus, 6.