List of "Boxes"

85 per cent of people in the United States are technologically illiterate, 6
Technologically challenged, 16
Sociology at cross-purposes, 20
Social science turns to mud-pies, 20
Political Science: the Sovietological profession, 23
Advancement of science?, 27
In search of wisdom, 28
Subtle trade-offs of innovation, 46
Engineering forecasts, 52
The man and the machine, 59
Mankind is not quite human, 60
Abuses of technology know no bounds, 63
The medium of television, 67
CompuSex, 71
You can’t reason with automatic bank tellers, 74
Ecology crusaders, 79
Science and technology determine national power, 86
A holy water fire engine, 90
Condoms: Third World and Western applications, 91
Information: a yardstick of development, 93
A fire and a car wash in China, 100
LIST OF "BOXES"

Computer predicament, 126
A $120-billion piñata, 126
Economic forecasting, 127
Can anyone top 193 authors?, 133
The hazards of spell check, 136
No system can explain itself, 138
The heaven and hell of United Europe, 159
McDonald's restaurants in the world, 163
Chinese script processing, 182–183
Knowledge: the only frontier, 189
All the world's a stage, 191
Publish, perish or get an arts grant, 196
Stop sign a life saver, 204
Seeing double?, 207
Protecting the French language, 208
General Mitchell's crystal ball, 215
Grand illusions of the warrior class, 221
Too much leisure time, 254
Drop drunk or drop out: it is your right, 255