CONTENTS

Introduction: Shakespeare and the Reformation 1
   Dennis Taylor

1. The Comedy of Errors and The Calumny of Apelles:
   An Exercise in Source Study 26
   Richard Dutton

2. “Obsequious Laments”: Mourning and Communal
   Memory in Shakespeare’s Richard III 44
   Katharine Goodland

3. Oxford University and Love’s Labour’s Lost 80
   Clare Asquith

4. Shakespeare’s Religious Background Revisited:
   Richard II in a New Context 103
   Jean-Christophe Mayer

5. Sacral and Sacramental Kingship in the
   Lancastrian Tetralogy 121
   Timothy Rosendale

6. Mocking Oldcastle: Notes Toward Exploring a Possible
   Catholic Presence in Shakespeare’s Henriad 141
   Gary D. Hamilton

7. Shakespeare’s Fairy Dance with Religio-Political
   Controversy in The Merry Wives of Windsor 159
   Regina M. Buccola

8. Catholic and Protestant, Jesuit and Jew: Historical
   Religion in The Merchant of Venice 180
   John Klause
CONTENTS

9. This Side of Purgatory: Ghostly Fathers and the Recusant Legacy in Hamlet
   John Freeman 222

10. Wittenberg and Melancholic Allegory: The Reformation and Its Discontents in Hamlet
    Jennifer Rust 260

11. The Accent and Gait of Christians: Hamlet’s Puritan Style
    R. Chris Hassel Jr. 285

12. Shakespeare on Monastic Life: Nuns and Friars in Measure for Measure
    David Beauregard 311

13. Helena and the Reformation Problem of Merit in All's Well That Ends Well
    Maurice Hunt 336

14. Paris Is Worth a Mass: All's Well That Ends Well and the Wars of Religion
    Lisa Hopkins 369

15. Blasphemous Preacher: Iago and the Reformation
    Richard Mallette 382

16. Love and Lies: Marital Truth-Telling, Catholic Casuistry, and Othello
    Paula McQuade 415

Notes on Contributors 439

Index 443