Acknowledgments

The writing of Modern Korean: An Intermediate Reader was begun due to the circumstance that there was virtually no intermediate Korean textbook available for college students. During the writing of this book, many people helped me, without whose help this book could not have been completed.

I feel greatly indebted to the following people whose assistance was the most valuable in every aspect of writing this book: Da Mi Lee, Jung Dal Kim, Dong In Cho, Kyung An Kim, Dae Ho Chung, Jong Ha Kim, Hong Keun Park, Sung Woo Choi, Young Hwa Hong, Hye Young Chung, Sun Hee Choi, Hye June Park, Hye Soo Kim, Kyung Sook Cho, and So Young Im.

I also wish to thank So Yoon Noh, Michael Kim, Brad Mattox, En Kyeng Yoo, Woody Mott, and Michelle Kim for editing the English portion of the textbook. Michelle also took upon herself the task of writing the activities for the exercise section of the book.

Special thanks go to Jung Dal Kim and Jong Ha Kim whose computer skill was essential for completing this book. I thank Min Soo Chung who provided illustrations to the book. I also wish to thank two anonymous readers, whose criticism and suggestions greatly improved the final version of this book.

Finally, I would like to render my deepest gratitude to Patricia Crosby, Executive Director of the University of Hawai‘i Press, who corresponded abundantly with me and waited with patience during revisions for completion of this book. Without her help and guidance, this book might not have seen the light.

University of Southern California
Los Angeles, California

N. Kim