Acknowledgments

I have received invaluable help from my colleagues at the East-West Culture Learning Institute in the preparation of Bonds without Bondage. The very idea of bringing about a book on this subject came from Dr. Verner C. Bickley, the Director of the Institute. Dr. Harold MacArthur was helpful in revising one of its chapters, and Ms. Diana Stephens and Mr. John Charles checked references. Drs. Mark Lester and Robert Snow commented on my lengthy introduction, while Professor Philip Jacob suggested the title of the volume. I have taxed to the maximum the generosity of Dr. Sripada Raju by seeking his assistance and guidance at every stage. I wish to record my deep gratitude to all these friends, and as a token of my appreciation, dedicate this book to them. Finally, I cannot adequately thank the contributors of various chapters and the outside reviewers for their comments.
