ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Twenty-five years ago Lorin Gill first introduced me to the wonders and the pleasures of Hawai‘i off the beaten path. I am still learning from him. The Sierra Club and the Hawaiian Trail and Mountain Club continued my education. Mountain Travel and REI allowed me to share Hawai‘i’s back country with hundreds of visitors who wanted something from Hawai‘i other than Waikīkī. Eileen D’Araujo, Iris Wiley, and Cheri Dunn, my editors, made suggestions that improved the manuscript. Paula Newcomb did a fine job designing the book. And finally, my wife, Ann, prepared the graphics and perhaps contributed more than anyone by making it possible for me to have the time and the freedom to do the work.
