This volume is the result of three years’ work undertaken by the team of the Vienna Café Project, as led by Professor Jeremy Aynsley at the Royal College of Art and Dr Tag Gronberg and Professor Simon Shaw-Miller at Birkbeck, University of London. Also on the team were Dr Charlotte Ashby at the Royal College of Art and the doctoral students, Diane Silverthorne, at the Royal College of Art, and Sara Ayres, at Birkbeck. The project was most ably administered by Angela Waplington. The team would like to thank the Royal College of Art and Birkbeck, University of London, for the support given to the project. We are especially grateful for the generous funding awarded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council of Great Britain without which much of the work of the project could not have been undertaken.

The early stages of conception and planning of the project benefitted from the encouragement of Dr Markus Kristan at the Albertina, Dr Eva B. Ottlinger at the Hofmobiliendepot and Dr Michael Zimmermann during his tenure as director of the Austrian Cultural Forum, London. The assistance of Reingard Witzman and Dr Ulrike Spring at the Wien Museum was also most valuable during the research stages of the project.

The exhibition, Vienna Café 1900, the accompanying festival of events and the conference, The Viennese Café as an Urban Site of Cultural Exchange, held in 2008, involved the participation of a number of partners. The Austrian Cultural Forum in London continued its support of the project. In particular we would like to thank the then director, Dr Johannes Wimmer, as well as Andrea Rauter and Vanessa Fewster. Their enthusiasm for our work was a constant source of encouragement. The Austrian Trade Commission and Austrian Tourism, in particular Gerhard Müller and Oskar Hinteregger, helped the project greatly. We would also like to thank the then Austrian Ambassador to London, Dr Gabriele Matzner-Holzer. The Anglo-Austrian Society, the Coffeehouse Owners Association of Vienna, Hotel Das Triest, the Vienna Tourist Office and the Wien Museum all contributed funds towards the exhibition and public events. The exhibition and conference were beautifully catered for by the pop-up Viennese café run by Demel of Vienna. Events accompanying the exhibition were co-hosted at the Royal College of Art, the Austrian Cultural Forum, the Royal Academy of Music and Birkbeck Cinema.

Additionally, throughout the AHRC project we were grateful for the advice and support of our Academic Advisory Group made up of Dr David Crowley, from the Royal College of Art, Dr Leslie Topp from Birkbeck, Professor Amanda Glauert from the Royal College of Music, and Dr Johannes Wimmer of the Austrian Cultural Forum.

Finally we would like to thank all the contributors to this volume for their enthusiastic participation in the project conference and all their work in preparing the essays for this collection. Many thanks also to Ann Przyzycki and Marion Berghahn at Berghahn Books for their help in the production of this volume.

Special thanks are due to the late Paul Overy, to whose memory this volume is dedicated.