CONTENTS

Preface v

List of Abbreviations xi

I. Beginnings 3
   Antecedents and Ancestors 3
   Youth 7
   The Student Becomes a Scholar 12

II. Political Economist 18
   Scholarship and Controversy 19
   Habilitation and a Libel Suit 30
   The Writings on Money and Banking 39
   Germany and the World 49
   An Estimate 55

III. Weltpolitik 60
   From Theory to Practice 60
   German Colonial Development 62
   "Getting On" 76
   The Bagdad Railway: The Financing of Imperialism, 1906 to 1911 80
   The Bagdad Railway: Some Accounts are Settled, 1911 to 1914 96
   The Bagdad Railway: An Assessment 106

IV. Financial Warlord 111
   Peace and War 111
   Secretary of the Treasury 121
   An Estimate of Helfferich as Treasury Secretary 141

V. Submarines and Total War 151
   The Submarine Warfare Controversy 155
   Bureaucrats vs. Generals: Differing Views of Total War 162
   The Hindenburg Program and the Auxiliary Service Law 171
   "The Rubicon is Crossed" 187

VI. Neuorientierung 197
   The "New Orientation": Political Reform 199
   The July Crisis of 1917 218

ix
CONTENTS

VII. The Insider Becomes an Outsider 239
   Chancellor Crisis Again 239
   War Aims and Other Matters 255
   Moscow and After 270
   The Past and the Future 285

VIII. Helfferich Returns to Politics 288
   Preparations 288
   The Campaign Against Erzberger 291
   Helfferich, Hindenburg, and the Dolchstoss-Legende 302
   The Erzberger Trial 312
   Epilogue 327

IX. Opposition Critic 330
   Helfferich and the Nationalists: 1919 to 1920 330
   "In the Sharpest, but not in Fruitless, Opposition" 337
   Against Fehrenbach and Wirth, June 1920 to November 1922 344

X. Erfinder der Rentenmark 365
   The Rathenau Crisis 365
   Cuno and the Ruhr Imbroglio 373
   Erfinder der Rentenmark: Helfferich's Explanation of the Inflation and his Stabilization Plan 383
   Toward the Future 394
   The Deputy in Retrospect 402

Conclusion 407
Bibliographical Note 415
Index 425