Acknowledgements

Working on this book project has been a most fulfilling research experience for both of us in the past few years. There are many people whom we would like to take the opportunity to thank. When we conceived of this edited volume, we approached many scholars working in film studies to write for us and also posted a call for papers at the University of Pennsylvania website. The support and response we received were very encouraging.

We have a long list of people to thank and we begin with by thanking our series editors Robert Singer, Gary Rhodes and Stefanie Van de Peer, particularly Robert, who had all the timely suggestions and advice ready for us and always gave us unflinching support and kind encouragement. Without their faith in us, this work would not have been possible.

Then, we would extend our cordial thanks to the great maestro himself, Shyam Benegal, who has given his valuable interview for this book. A special thanks to Anuradha Needham for arranging this special interview.

We would also like to thank all our contributors for their perseverance and effort in framing the various drafts of their chapters and providing us with necessary inputs from time to time to improve the same. The final version of the volume would not have been possible without their relentless effort and sense of goodwill towards us. In this regard, the comments and suggestions of our readers and endorsers – Aparna Sharma, Meenakshi Bharat and Noel Brown – have been most useful and indispensable. Thank you to Shohini Chaudhuri for giving us some important suggestions at the beginning of the project.

A special thanks is due to our young proofreader, Aldish Edroos, who showed a lot of patience and enthusiasm in helping us to prepare the final draft. Our sincere thanks go to the former Commissioning Editor at EUP,
Richard Strachan, and the current Commissioning Editors, Sam Johnson and Gillian Leslie, for helping us with great warmth and sincerity. Many thanks to the entire production team at EUP.

Finally, we would also like to thank our parents for providing us with all the love, affection and support we needed in putting together such an ambitious volume. This book is sincerely dedicated to them.
