Contents

List of Figures vii

1 Introduction: Popular Culture and a Shared National Perspective 1

Part I Reinterpreting Pre-twentieth-century British History

2 What Chance Sisterhood under Patriarchy? Mary Queen of Scots (Josie Rourke, 2018) 23

3 What Would it Be to “Turn the World Upside Down”? Fanny Lye Deliver’d (Thomas Clay, 2019) 35

5 Class as the Crucial Division in UK Society: Peterloo (Mike Leigh, 2018) 65

Part II Rehearsing Twentieth-century British History

6 One-nation Conservatism 1920s/2020s: Downton Abbey (Michael Engler, 2019) 87

7 Defending this “Island Nation”: Darkest Hour (Joe Wright, 2017) and Churchill (Jonathan Teplitzky, 2017) 104

8 Identity Politics: Where Hands Touch (Amma Asante, 2018) and A United Kingdom (Asante, 2016) 121

9 Colonialism and the Reshaping of History: Viceroy’s House (Gurinder Chadha, 2017) 138

Part III Re-presenting Britain in the Twenty-first Century

10 Educated Elites and Plebeians: The Sense of an Ending (Ritesh Batra, 2017) and Daphne (Peter Mackie Burns, 2017) 157

11 Migration in an Age of Ideological Confrontation: God’s Own Country (Francis Lee, 2017) 172
12 Rural Poverty: Dark River (Clio Barnard, 2017) and The Levelling (Hope Dickson Leach, 2016) 189
13 Urban Poverty: Sorry We Missed You (Ken Loach, 2019) 203
14 Conclusion: Liberal Consensus Politics, Economics, and Class 218

Bibliography 231

Index 247