Contents

Acknowledgments vii

Introduction 1

1 The Political Life of a Higher Education Policy 21

2 The Rise and Fall of Academic Autonomy: The University as a Historic Battlefield 47

3 Evaluation Matters: Teachers' Training at an Alternative University 77

4 The Children of the Revolution and the Matrisociality of the Benevolent State 108

5 Generation(s) of Protests at a Revolutionary University 135

Conclusion 161

Epilogue: (De)colonial Silences in the Hierarchy of Global Knowledge Production 167

References 179

Index 197