We would like to thank all of the informants who contributed to the various surveys of Welsh English conducted by the authors. We are also in grateful debt to our several mentors, especially Markku Filppula and David Parry. For their immense patience, support and feedback, our thanks to the editorial board of the Dialects of English series, particularly Karen Corrigan, and to the production team at De Gruyter. Heli Paulasto would also like to thank the Academy of Finland for the post-doctoral research funding (project number 258999) that launched work on the present volume.
