We want to thank the participants in the open discussions following each session of the conference at Chapel Hill, out of which this book grew, for drawing our attention to the points of contact between the differing perspectives represented in the papers. Their comments helped the authors improve their papers and opened several new subjects for future discussion. Those who gave the benefit of their insights during the conference were: Jack Donnelly III, James R. Leutze, Ubaldo Martínez, Pilar Saro y Saro, Lars Schoultz, and Samuel R. Williamson, Jr. In addition, thanks are due the Comité Conjunto for providing travel funds for the Spanish participants and for making possible the Spanish edition of this book. The College of Arts and Sciences and the Office of International Programs also provided generous support. The Institute of Latin American Studies, with Lars Schoultz, Director, and Sharon Mújica, Administrative Assistant, provided all manner of support—financial, moral, and organizational. In the Instituto de Cooperación Iberoamericana (ICI), María Carmen Ordóñez was of inestimable help. We are grateful to them all and to the authorities of the sponsoring institutions whose confidence and backing have kept the Convenio alive.
