

Table of contents

Pia Bergmann, Jana Brenning, Martin Pfeiffer, Elisabeth Reber
Towards an Interactional Grammar 1

I PROSODY

Karin Birkner
Prosodic formats of relative clauses in spoken German 19

Martin Pfeiffer
What prosody reveals about the speaker's cognition: Self-repair
in German prepositional phrases 40

Jana Brenning
Speakers' orientation to the nucleus accent in syntactic
co-constructions 74

Pia Bergmann
The prosodic design of parentheses in spontaneous speech 103

Beatrice Szczypek Reed
Prosody, syntax and action formation: Intonation phrases as ›action components‹ 142

II EMBODIMENT

Lorenza Mondada
Deixis: an integrated interactional multimodal analysis 173

Florence Oloff
Withdrawal from turns in overlap and participation 207

Ina Hörmeyer
The importance of gaze in the constitution of units in Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC) 237

III MULTIMODAL CORPORA

Jens Edlund, David House and Jonas Beskow

Gesture movement profiles in dialogues from a Swedish multimodal database of spontaneous speech 265

Patrizia Paggio

Towards an empirically-based grammar of speech and gestures 281

Subject Index 315