

Contents

Abbreviations and Note on the Text — IX

Acknowledgements — XI

Preface — XIII

Chapter One: The Importance of Judaism for Tillich, the Context and Method — 1

- 1.1 Key Biographical Details — 1
- 1.1.2 Select Prior Treatments of Tillich and Judaism — 6
- 1.2 Aryan Christianity — 9
- 1.2.1 The Influence of the History of Religions School — 12
- 1.3 The Use and Abuse of Judaism within the Western Tradition — 17
- 1.3.1 German Idealism’s “New Science of Hating Judaism” — 21
- 1.3.2 Hegel’s Incarnational Dialectic — 22
- 1.4 Tillich’s Method: The Dialectical History of Religion — 26
- 1.4.1 The Dialectical Structure of Tillich’s Systematic Theology — 30
- 1.4.2 Two Types of Dialectic — 33

Chapter Two: Schelling’s Cosmic Dialectic, the Jewish Critique of Idolatry, and Descent into Legalism — 35

- 2.1 The Importance of Schelling for Tillich — 35
- 2.2 The Doctrine of the Potencies — 40
- 2.3 The Emergence of the Religious Consciousness — 43
- 2.4 The 1910 Dissertation: Judaism and Islam (“Mohammedanism”) — 45
- 2.4.1 The Logos as the Agent of Revelation — 46
- 2.4.2 Revelation, the Mythological Process and Idolatry — 47
- 2.4.3 The Jewish Prophetic Transformation of Pagan Substance — 50
- The Basis of Revelation: Pagan Substance and Revelational Form — 50
- The Prophetic Transformation of the Particular into the Universal — 51
- 2.4.4 The “Mantle of the Supernatural:” Jewish Legalism — 52
- 2.4.5 Islam: The “World-Historical After Effect of Judaism” — 54
- 2.5.1 The 1912 Dissertation: The Failures of Paganism and Judaism — 56
- 2.5.2 Additional Support for the Continuity Between Judaism and Christianity — 60

Chapter Three: Jewish Prophetism as the Ontological Basis for Justice — 62

- 3.1 World War I and Tillich's Adoption of Socialism — 63
 - 3.1.1 Other Tillich Essays on Related Topics — 66
- 3.2 The Spirit of Capitalism — 68
 - 3.2.1 Tillich's The Religious Situation — 68
 - 3.2.2 Belief-ful Realism — 70
 - 3.2.3 Judaism as Ally to Capitalism — 71
- 3.3 The Socialist Decision: Context, Method and Critical Principles — 74
 - Banned, Burned and Bombed? A Contested History — 74
 - Plan of the argument — 76
 - Dialectical Structure — 77
 - Key Terms — 78
 - Framework for Political Analysis — 80
 - Justice is the True Power of Being — 85
 - 3.3.1 The Contradictions of Polytheism, or "Might Makes Right" — 87
 - 3.3.2 The Exile and the Elevation of Time over Space — 88
 - 3.3.3 Prophetic Transformation of the Powers of Origin — 90
 - 3.3.4 Jewish Prophetism and the "Jewish Problem" of Nationalism — 91
- 3.4 The Socialist Decision: Expectation and the Socialist Principle — 93
- 3.5 The Socialist Decision: Transformation of the World Order — 96
 - 3.5.1 The Transformation of Nationalism — 97
 - 3.5.2 The Transformation of "Autarky" and the Elevation of Time — 98

Chapter Four: The Dialectic of the Holy and the Permanent Theological Importance of Judaism — 101

- 4.1 Existential Participation — 104
- 4.2 Ambiguity, Guilt and Multi-Disciplinary Method — 105
- 4.3 First Lecture: Anti-Judaism and Anti-Semitism — 108
 - 4.3.1 Christianity, Paganism and Anti-Judaism — 110
 - 4.3.2 The Churches under Hitler: The Struggle for Life and Death — 112
- 4.4 Second Lecture: The Mirror of Jewish Prophetism — 114
 - 4.4.1 The First Structural Analogy: Space, Territorial Insecurity and Anxiety — 115
 - 4.4.2 The Second Structural Analogy: The Psychic Split, Despair, Mutual Attraction and Repulsion — 116
 - German History, False Vocation-Consciousness, and the Split between Power and Being — 117
 - The Inner Split and Despair — 119

- 4.4.3 Typological Thinking, Objectification, Dehumanization and the “Mirror” — 121
- 4.5 Third Lecture: The Dialectic of the Holy and Judaism as a Perpetual “Thorn in the Flesh” — 124
 - 4.5.1 “The Holy” as the Foundation of Reality — 125
 - 4.5.2 The Continuity of Priestly and Prophetic through the Covenant — 126
 - 4.5.3 Sacramental Space: Polytheism, Imperialism and Sacral Injustice — 128
 - 4.5.4 Prophetic Time: Abraham and the Pattern of Exodus, Exile and Diaspora — 128
 - 4.5.5 Amos: The Exile and the Preservation of the Covenant — 131
 - 4.5.6 The Cross and the Prophetic Spirit in Christianity — 133
- 4.6 Fourth Lecture and Conclusion: Theological Answers and the Search for Reconciliation — 135

Chapter Five: A Rational Dialectic in the Systematic Theology — 140

- 5.1.1 ST Volume I: Typological Method — 140
- 5.1.2 The Rational Quest for Balance — 144
- 5.1.3 Volume I: Judaism and Trinitarian Monotheism — 145
- 5.1.4 The Prophetic Struggle — 148
- 5.1.5. Volume I: The Paradoxes of Prophetism and of the Cross — 151
- 5.2 ST Volume II: The Life and Death Struggle to Save the Old Testament — 154
- 5.3 Volume III: The Purification of the Religious Consciousness — 157

Chapter Six: An Inclusive Dialectic — 160

Introduction — 160

- 6.1 The Bampton Lectures — 162
 - 6.1.1 First Bampton Lecture: The Emergence of an Exclusive Self-Consciousness — 163
 - A. The Universal Importance of Justice — 165
 - 6.1.2 The Third Bampton Lecture: “The Holy” within an Inclusive Dialectic — 166
 - A. Dynamic Typology and Inner Drive — 166
 - B. Creative Tension and the Holy — 167
 - C. An Inclusive Dialectic — 169
- 6.2 The Significance of the History of Religion — 170
 - 6.2.1 Dynamic Typology and the Religion of the Concrete Spirit — 172

Chapter Seven: The Importance of Historical Consciousness — 175

- 7.1 The Challenge of Real Jews — 177
- 7.2 The Impasse of Supersessionism — 180
- 7.3 The Dualistic Metaphysics of Theological Anti-Judaism — 183

The Emergence of Anti-Jewish Essentialism — 183

Transcending Historic, Metaphysical Dualisms — 186

Judgment and Promise — 186

- 7.4 The Conflict Between Historical Spirits: Amos versus Anaximander — 187

- 7.4.1 Ideology and the Roots of Anti-Semitism — 188

- 7.4.2 Anaximander and Striving for Self-Destruction — 190

- 7.4.3 Amos and Creative Destruction — 191

Select Bibliography — 193

Paul Tillich Primary Sources — 193

Books — 193

Articles — 194

Secondary Sources — 195

Subject index — 203