Acknowledgements

The chapters in this collection are the final results of a conference that was held in Helsinki in October of 2009, hosted by Peter Kraus. The participants were part of a research project titled “Challenging Power,” which represented one of twenty-one discrete programs funded by the Academy of Finland in the Valta (Power) Program, the first effort in several decades to explore the topic of power in Finland from a number of methodological and disciplinary perspectives, and with a view of power that was more encompassing than traditional studies of the parliamentary and electoral system. This particular project sought to look in depth at issues related to power and the inclusion of minority groups in Finland, which included both old minority groups such as the Sámi and the Roma and new immigrant groups. We would like to recognise a number of individuals for their contributions to the success of the project, in addition to the authors included herein. We appreciate the support of the staff at the Academy of Finland, in particular Petteri Pietikäinen for going beyond the call of duty in assisting us. We would also like to thank the following individuals at the Centre for the Study of Ethnicity and Nationalism at the University of Helsinki: Daniel Moran, Tom Sandlund, Pasi Saukkonen, Matti Similä, and Östen Wahlbeck.