This volume of articles started life as a three-day workshop on the theme “The Study of Antisemitism in Scandinavia – Where Are We Heading?” held on 5–7 February 2018 at the University of Greifswald. The editors would like to thank all those who participated in the meeting as well as those who assisted in its organization. A special thanks goes to David Feldman who gave a public lecture at the Alfried Krupp-Kolleg Greifswald in connection with the workshop. Both the meeting in Greifswald and the publication of this book were generously financed by the Swedish Research Council (Vetenskapsrådet) as part of the project “The Archives of Antisemitism,” located at the University of Gothenburg, and by the University of Greifswald. We would also like to thank those who did not participate in the meeting, but who were willing to contribute to this publication and make it more complete and coherent.

Since this is the first volume of our new series, we would also like to direct a special thanks to our co-series editor Christhard Hoffmann (Bergen), who took over the responsibilities of finding anonymous peer-reviewers for the volume, whose work has improved the book considerably.

In preparing this volume for publication, we would particularly like to express our heartfelt gratitude to Maria Zucker, Laura Burlon, and Stefan Diezmann (De Gruyter), Dinah Hamm (Greifswald), and Karl Levesque (Montréal).
