Acknowledgements

Our warmest thanks go to the following persons and institutions whose help made this book possible: Ben Shneiderman and Helen Sarid, David “Chim” Seymour’s nephew and niece; Gregor Siebenkotten for his generous help; the Paris and New York offices of Magnum Photos, especially Eva Bodinet, Hamish Crooks, Lance Han, Naïma Kaddour, Matthew Murphy, and Michael Shulman. We are particularly obliged to Mattia Acetoso for allowing the reproduction of Carlo Levi’s 1952 text for the UNESCO Courier, and to Daniela Fonti and Antonella Lavorgna, Fondazione Carlo Levi, and Franco Nudi, Archivio Centrale dello Stato, for giving access to Chim’s letters to Carlo Levi and allowing their reproduction. We are grateful to the Museo di Fotografia Contemporanea (MuFoCo) and the Fototeca Storica Nazionale Ando Gilardi, both in Milan, for allowing the reproductions of photographs from their collections. We thank Bernadette von Woerkom for access to the article in Katholieke Illustratie, which features some of Chim’s photos of Calabria. Thanks are also due to the New York Times Archives Department for access to Carlo Levi’s articles, to Roberto Carbone, Director of the Archivio Fotografico Mario Carbone, and to UNESCO, in particular to Adama Pam, Ingrid Regien, Nicholas Jeffreys, and Vincent Defourny, for having supported this publication project right from the start. Additionally, we owe a debt of gratitude to the reviewers who gave us advice on how to improve our work, to the editors of this book series, to our publisher De Gruyter, in particular Rabea Rittgerodt, and to the Luxembourg Centre for Contemporary and Digital History (C²DH) at the University of Luxembourg for generous financial support and excellent collaboration, as well as to the Member State of Japan for its generous financial support. Finally, we are greatly indebted to Manuela Thurner for her editorial revisions and for preparing our manuscript for production and to Laurence Maurfort Bergamo and Arielle Bekono for their revision of the French version of the texts.