List of tables

Tab. 1: Hengeveld’s lexeme classes and their respective functions (Hengeveld 2013: 32) —— 14
Tab. 2: Croft’s conceptual space for the parts of speech (Croft 2000: 89) —— 16
Tab. 3: Chinese word classification systems since Ma (1898) (cf. Bai 2011: 216) —— 37
Tab. 4: Examples of occurrence frequencies of nouns in both N- and V-functions in thirteen classical texts (Zhang 2005: 182; pīnyīn glosses added) —— 49
Tab. 5: Most common intransitive and transitive argument structure constructions in Classical Chinese —— 82
Tab. 6: Morphological differentiation between intransitive and causative (transitive) verbs through *s- in Old Chinese (examples from Mei 2012: 12; cf. Sagart and Baxter 2012) —— 85
Tab. 7: Morphological differentiation between parts of speech through *s- in Old Chinese and Middle Chinese (examples from Sagart and Baxter 2012: 41 and Sagart 1999: 63) —— 85
Tab. 8: Semantic type shifts of action-denoting lexemes in nominal function —— 126
Tab. 9: Semantic type shifts of object-denoting lexemes in verbal function —— 127
Tab. 10: Metaphorical mapping from JOURNEY to LOVE (Kövecses 2010: 9) —— 193
Tab. 11: Distributions of the word form 齒 chī —— 237
Tab. 12: Distributions of the lexeme 背 bēi —— 242
Tab. 13: Distributions of the lexeme 祖 zǔ —— 244

https://doi.org/10.1515/9783110660791-205