Contents

Foreword — V

Introduction — 1
- Xenophon and modern scholarship — 1
- Interpreting Xenophon’s Peloponnesian War — 2
- Methodology — 3

Chapter 1: Alcibiades and Athens — 10
1.1 Alcibiades’ military intervention in the Hellespont — 10
1.2 Alcibiades and Tissaphernes — 15
1.3 Alcibiades’ preparations for a sea battle against Mindarus — 16
1.4 Alcibiades at Cyzicus — 17
1.5 The sea battle at Cyzicus — 20
1.6 Alcibiades’ collection of money — 21
1.7 Thrasyllus as a general: an implicit contrast with Alcibiades — 23
1.8 Alcibiades’ financial and military action continued — 30
1.9 Cyrus’ intervention and the Athenian reaction — 36
1.10 Alcibiades before his return — 39
1.11 Alcibiades and the Plynteria — 41
1.12 Alcibiades’ return and the reaction of the mob — 44
1.13 The supporters of Alcibiades — 46
1.14 The dissenters — 65
1.15 Xenophon’s assessment of Alcibiades — 66
1.16 Alcibiades’ arrival at the Peiraeus — 67
1.17 Alcibiades’ defense speech and the reaction of the Athenians — 69
1.18 Alcibiades commander-in-chief — 71
1.19 Alcibiades and the Mysteries — 75
1.20 Alcibiades’ departure — 77
1.21 Lysander and Cyrus — 79
1.22 Alcibiades and Tissaphernes again — 83
1.23 Alcibiades at Notium — 85
1.24 The victory of Lysander — 89
1.25 The Athenians’ reaction towards Alcibiades — 90
1.26 Alcibiades’ flight from Notium — 93
1.27 The aftermath of the defeat at Notium for the Athenians — 96
Chapter 2: Callicratidas' generalship — 98

1. Callicratidas vs Lysander and the Persian money — 98
2. Callicratidas and the Milesians — 113
3. The military action of Callicratidas and his economic problems — 119
4. Callicratidas' end — 126

Chapter 3: The trial after Arginousai — 133

1. The military events after the sea battle at Arginousai — 133
2. The deposition of the generals — 140
3. The reaction of the generals — 141
4. Archedemus' trial against Erasinides — 142
5. The generals in the Council — 144
6. The meeting in the Assembly — 145
7. The two fold scheme of Theramenes — 151
8. Xenophon's assessment of Theramenes — 159
9. Xenophon's assessment of Callixenus — 162
10. The trial of the generals — 163
11. The speech of Euryptolemus — 174
12. The aftermath of the trial — 209

Chapter 4: Athens against Lysander at Aegospotami—the end of the war — 217

1. The situation in the Spartan fleet — 217
2. Lysander's return — 217
3. Cyrus and Lysander: the last encounter — 219
4. Spartans and Athenians before the battle of Aegospotami — 220
5. Xenophon's two striking 'ellipses' — 226
6. Lysander's movements — 229
7. The appearance of Alcibiades — 232
8. The generals' reaction: their political and personal motives — 236
9. Lysander's attack — 242
10. Lysander, Philocles, Adeimantus and the execution of the Athenian prisoners — 247
11. Lysander after the defeat—the reaction of the Athenians — 252

Chapter 5: Conclusion — 255

Xenophon as a historian — 255
Bibliography —— 261
Index of Sources —— 277
General Index —— 291