Acknowledgements

Throughout the writing process of this monograph we have received great support and assistance from numerous people.

First and foremost, we would like to thank Prof. Wolfgang G. Stock, the one who gave us the opportunity to publish this book, the person whose expertise we owe our academic knowledge to, and who pushes us to accomplish the best we can. He was head of the Department of Information Science at Heinrich Heine University Düsseldorf in Germany, is our supervisor, and a good friend. He supported us during the interviewing process, during the writing process, and furthermore supported us in our work. We express our sincere gratitude to him. We would also like to thank his caring and loving wife, Mechtild Stock, who is a beautiful soul and always heartily welcomes us to their home.

Also, we would like to express gratitude towards our colleague Mohamed Nasser Abdillah Abdullh for translating the German survey into Arabic and for his assistance and translation during the interview process. He further encouraged and motivated us with his kind words towards our effort. Additionally, we would like to acknowledge the help of our colleague Dr. Aylin Imeri for proof-reading some parts of the manuscript and also would like to thank her and further colleagues, namely Dr. Isabelle Dorsch, Dr. Kaja J. Fietkiewicz, Dr. Maria Henkel, Maurice Schleußinger, Dr. Tobias Siebenlist, and Anneliese Volkmar, for mental support during the writing process and during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Special acknowledgements are further addressed to the interviewed experts, Prof. Dr. Rianne Dekker, Dr. Juliane Stiller, Dr. Violeta Trkulja, and Prof. Dr. Carola Richter. Thank you very much for your time, answering our questions, and sharing your experiences with us. It was very nice to meet you, unfortunately only virtually due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Further acknowledgements go to the several organizations and institutions which are not mentioned because of data privacy reasons, and further people who supported us:

- Rasia Haji and Eaman Haji for connecting us with children of asylum seekers and organizing interviews.
- Mr. Gerhard Sußek from the Bundesamt für Migration und Flüchtlinge for sharing potential contact addresses of German language courses for asylum seekers.
- Mrs. Elke Faust, Mrs. Silvia Gómez, and Mr. Bernd Sauerwein-Fox for welcoming us with their loving and caring attitude and the opportunity to interview the attendees of German language classes. Furthermore, our acknowledgements go to the German language class teachers.

Mr. Shekib Akbary who reported about his personal experiences as a German language class teacher for asylum seekers.

Lastly, we would also like to thank the refugees and asylum seekers who took part in our interviews and those who answered the survey. We wish them all the best.

In addition, each of the authors would like to personally thank some people:

Special thanks from Katrin Scheibe:

First and foremost, I would like to thank the most important persons in my life, my parents Olga Scheibe and Klaus Scheibe. I am more than grateful to have them in my life. They are always by my side, do their best for me, and support me in every decision of my life. I can always count on them at any time of the day. Further, I would like to acknowledge the patience and love of my partner Tobias Kinle. He always stands by me and supports me. I am thankful to have him in my life. Also, I would like to thank all other members of my family, the members of my partner’s family, and my godparents (Andrea and Simon) for supporting me. Furthermore, I am thankful for my loving and caring neighbours and friends, Ramona and Julius, Julia and Patrick, Stefan, and Chantal.

Finally, my special thanks go to my co-author, colleague, and friend, Franziska Zimmer, for her endurance, perseverance, and patience; for staying up all night on some days to finish a research paper in time before a deadline; for taking the journey to Ireland together by train and ferry and visiting the European Google Headquarter office in Dublin; for spending our break between interviews and surveys on Valentine’s Day together at a cafe and treating ourselves. Thank you for walking this path together.

Special thanks from Franziska Zimmer:

I like to thank the most important people, my family and friends, Papa, Laura, Jacky, Sarah, Philipp, Christian, Nico, and of course Nine, who support me in more ways than they realize, thank you I love you.

I am grateful to have this first experience together with Katrin. With her creativity, dedication, and immaculate attention to detail (to find even the tiniest error) this book and many more research endeavors were made possible. Thank you for encouraging each other during every phase of this process. And thank you for visiting the Harry Potter Studio Tour together.
