Contributors

Margarita Alexandrou is a Postdoctoral Researcher at the University of Cyprus. She has published on archaic iambos and is preparing a commentary on the fragments of Hipponax of Ephesos.

Chris Carey is Emeritus Professor of Greek at UCL. He has published on Greek epic, lyric, drama, oratory and law.

Ettore Cingano is Professor of Greek Literature at Ca' Foscari University in Venice. He has published extensively on Greek lyric poetry from Stesichorus to Pindar, on the Hesiodic fragments and on the cyclic epics. His research interests also include metrical inscriptions and the early versions of Greek myths in literature and iconography.

Giovan Battista D'Alessio, formerly Professor of Greek Language and Literature at King’s College London, is Professor of Classical Philology at the University of Naples “Federico II”. He has published extensively on Greek epic, lyric, Hellenistic poetry and literary papyri.

P. J. Finglass is Henry Overton Wills Professor of Greek at the University of Bristol. He has published the monograph Sophocles (2019) in the series “Greece and Rome New Surveys in the Classics”, as well as editions of Sophocles' Oedipus the King (2018), Ajax (2011), and Electra (2007), of Stesichorus (2014), and of Pindar's Pythian Eleven (2007) in the series “Cambridge Classical Texts and Commentaries”; has co-edited (with Adrian Kelly) The Cambridge Companion to Sappho (2021) and Stesichorus in Context (2015) and (with Lyndsay Coo) Female Characters in Fragmentary Greek Tragedy (2020); and edits the journal Classical Quarterly.

W. Benjamin Henry is a Research Associate in the Department of Greek & Latin at University College London. His publications include Pindar's Nemeans: A Selection (2005), Philodemus, On Death (2009), and contributions to The Oxyrhynchus Papyri.

Mark de Kreij is Veni Postdoctoral Fellow at Radboud University in Nijmegen. His research interests have moved from Greek linguistics to the materiality of Greek literature, and he is currently preparing a book on the readers and performers of Greek lyric in Roman Egypt.

Kathleen McNamee is Professor Emerita of Classics at Wayne State University in Detroit. Her publications, which deal with Greek and Latin literature and papyrology, include Annotation in Greek and Latin Texts from Egypt (2007), Sigla and Select Marginalia in Greek Literary Papyri (1992), and Abbreviations in Greek Literary Papyri and Ostraca (1981).

Marco Perale is Lecturer in Classics at the University of Liverpool. He is the author of Adespora Papyracea Hexametra Graeca. Hexameters of Unknown or Uncertain Authorship from Graeco-Roman Egypt, vol. 1 (2020). He is currently preparing a new critical edition of the fragments and epigrams of the poet-philologist Simias of Rhodes.

https://doi.org/10.1515/9783110711004-204
Lucia Prauscello is Senior Research Fellow at All Souls College, Oxford. She is the author of Singing Alexandria: Music between Practise and Textual Transmission (Leiden 2006) and of Performing Citizenship in Plato’s Laws (Cambridge 2014). She has published articles on various aspects of ancient Greek literature and culture. She is currently working on an edition of Corinna together with Giovan Battista D’Alessio and on the new OCT of Menander with Peter Parsons.

David Sider is Professor of Classics at New York University. He works on Greek philosophy and poetry. His most recent book is a commentary on the epigrams and elegies of Simonides.

Giuseppe Ucciardello is Professor of Greek Language and Literature at the University of Messina. He has published extensively on Greek lyric, Attic orators, Greek grammarians, Byzantine Lexicography. He has a special interest in Greek literary Papyrology and is currently working on an edition with commentary of fragments of lyrica adespota from papyri.