Preface

This research was carried out within the framework of the project RuneS: Runic Writing in the Germanic Languages, a cooperation project between the universities of Kiel, Göttingen, Eichstätt-Ingolstadt and Munich. The long-term project is funded by the Union of the German Academies of Sciences until 2025 and has the aim to explore runic writing between ca. AD 200–1500 in its local variations in Scandinavia, Great Britain and on the Continent. The research centre Eichstätt-München is currently working on the edition of the Old English Runic Corpus [OERC]. This edition of the Frisian Runic Corpus [OFRC] will complement the OERC and form the basis for future research on runic writing in the area of the modern-day Netherlands and adjacent areas.

This edition project is greatly indebted to fruitful collaborations with curators and museum staff of the Fries Museum, Leeuwarden (Dr. Nelleke IJssenagger, Dirk Boomsma), Groninger Museum, Groningen (Dr. Egge Knol), Museum Het Valkhof, Nijmegen (Dr. Louis Swinkels), Openluchtmuseum Het Hoogeland, Warffum (Stijn van Genuchten), Ostfriesisches Landesmuseum Emden (PD Dr. Wolfgang Jahn), and the advice of other cooperative researchers (Dr. Ian Riddler, Dr. Donal Bateson, Dr. Wim Dijkman, Dr. Tineke Looijenga, PD Kerstin Kazzazi, Dr. Christiane Zimmermann, PD Dr. Alessia Bauer).

In the end, this project would not have been possible without funding by the Göttingen Academy of Sciences and Letters and the extensive groundwork on the OERC by Prof. Dr. Gaby Waxenberger, and her ceaseless advice and caring support.

https://doi.org/10.1515/9783110728224-201