Acknowledgements

We’d like to thank all those who participated in the 2019 conference “What is Western about the West?” at Erfurt University, as well as those involved in all the various seminars and workshops (at Fordham and at Erfurt) leading up to it. We are grateful for the support of the programs at Fordham (in Comparative Literature, Philosophy, Theology, English, and Orthodox Christian Studies) and at Erfurt (Slavic Literatures, History, Philosophy, Religious Studies).

Many thanks also to all those institutions who supported the conference financially and thus made this volume possible: the Thüringer Aufbaubank, which for three years was the main financial supporter of the research project “What is Western about the West?” as a whole; the Ernst Abbe Fund; and the Research Support Department of the University of Erfurt administration.

Many thanks to Bettina Neuhoff, Jessica Bartz and the rest of their team at De Gruyter publishing house, who showed great patience in solving a large number technical and textual issues.
