Acknowledgements

This book is a revised version of my doctoral dissertation presented in November 2018 at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. I am grateful to Kirk Sanders who supervised the dissertation and provided valuable feedback at the early stages of the argument. I would also like to extend my gratitude to the members of my committee: Antony Augoustakis who facilitated my research by securing for me an assistantship that allowed my extended stay in Berlin; Angeliki Tzanetou for her precious assistance in clarifying certain ambiguities that arose in the first chapter; Daniel W. Leon who read and commented meticulously on the entire manuscript. Special thanks is owed to Konstantinos Arampapaslis, Leon Wash and Georgia Sermamoglou-Soulmaidi for providing feedback on various drafts. My thanks also go to the faculty members of Aristotle University Yannis Tzifopoulos and Stavros Frangoulidis who encouraged me to further pursue my studies. A special mention is reserved for Theokritos Kouremenos and Poulheria Kyriakou who provided their unceasing support and valuable advice during my undergraduate years in Thessaloniki and the graduate years in the USA. Last but not least, I would like to thank the editors for accepting my manuscript for publication in the Trends in Classics series.
