Contents

Introduction — 1

Chapter 1 Law and Story — 9
  Introduction — 9
  “Law begins ... after narrative” — 10
  Generative Legal Narratives — 11
  The Law alongside Literature Paradigm — 14
  Reading Homer in Digital Age — 17

Chapter 2 Law in the Odyssey — the Story of Motion — 20
  Two Ancient Stories — 20
  From Mythic Revenge to Judicial Resolution in Tragedy — 21
  Paths Leading Toward Generative Legal Narrative — 31
  Athena: Multifaceted Goddess-Judge — 41
  Conclusion — 45

Chapter 3 From The Iliad to the Odyssey — Toward the Juridification of Anger — 48
  Law Making and Homeric Wisdom — 48
  Achilles: “giving in to his power, his brute force and wild pride” — 54
  Odysseus: “Not even then would I stay my hands from slaughter” — 65
  Causality versus Destiny: “Against the will of Fate” — 71
  Games of the Olympians — 77
  Conclusion — 84

Chapter 4 The Metis Syndrome: Women and Law in the Odyssey — 87
  The Feminine Spectrum of Action in the Epics — 87
  Metis — 89
  Penelope — 95
  Calypso and Circe — 106
  Nausicaa and Arete — 111
  The Serving Women — 117
  Athena — 123
  Conclusion — 127
VIII — Contents

Coda — 130

Quotations in Headings —— 132

Bibliography —— 133

Index —— 140