List of tables

Table 2.1  Contrasting syntactic orientations for Dyirbal and Yidiñ —— 28
Table 2.2  The consonant system in Yidiñ and Dyirbal —— 30
Table 3.1  Incidence of framed and unframed quotation in selected narratives in our target languages —— 66
Table 4.1  Medial clauses in Manambu: meanings and markers —— 76
Table 4.2  Consonant phonemes in Manambu —— 91
Table 4.3  Vowel phonemes in Manambu —— 91
Table 5.1  Non-final verb switch-reference marking —— 99
Table 5.2  Frequency and context for use of switch-reference markings —— 101
Table 5.3  Grammaticalised forms involving -si ‘sequential same subject’ —— 101
Table 5.4  Coordinating conjunctions —— 105
Table 5.5  Subordinating conjunctions (according to position) —— 108
Table 5.6  A selection of Hiri Motu lexical borrowings —— 110
Table 5.7  Hiri Motu borrowed grammatical constructions —— 110
Table 6.1  Summary of verbatim narrative prompting sequences studied —— 131
Table 6.2  Constituency of all prompts in the four verbatim prompting sequences —— 132
Table 7.1  An overview of clause linking constructions in Brokpa —— 147
Table 7.2  Versatile case markers and relators with clause-linking functions in Brokpa —— 176
Table 8.1  Basic demonstratives in Tiang —— 184
Table 8.2  Substitution anaphors in Tiang —— 192
Table 8.3  Substitution cataphors in Tiang —— 192
Table 8.4  Textual anaphors in Tiang —— 195
Table 8.5  Textual cataphors in Tiang —— 196
Table 8.6  Other uses of Tiang demonstratives —— 197
Table 8.7  Functions of Tiang demonstratives —— 204
Table 8.8  ‘Nonvisible’ as a primary anaphoric demonstrative —— 205
Table 8.9  ‘Nonvisible’ as a secondary anaphoric demonstrative —— 208
Table 8.10  ‘Nonvisible’ without any anaphoric function —— 210
Table 9.1  Mirative markers in Kurtöp —— 225
Table 9.2  Summary of mirative counts in each of the four texts —— 232

https://doi.org/10.1515/9783110789836-205