Table of Contents

Preface ................................................................................................................................. ix

Edda Weigand

The Dialogic Action Game ................................................................................................. 1

Jim Martin

Factoring Out Exchange: Types of Structure ....................................................................... 19

Michael Toolan

Towards a Simple Schema of Speech Moves ...................................................................... 41

Frances Rock

Exploring Contemporary Method Through Historical Data: Pragma-Discoursal Dialogue Annotation ......................................................................................................................... 53

Peter White

Dialogue and Inter-Subjectivity: Reinterpreting the Semantics of Modality and Hedging ................................................................. 67

Barry Natusch

Talking for a Living on Air .................................................................................................. 81

Arja Piirainen-Marsh

Interjections and the Institutionality of Broadcast Talk ..................................................... 93

Gerda Lauerbach

Negotiating Defeat in TV Election Night Coverage ......................................................... 107

Martin Montgomery

Televised Talk: Face Work, Politeness and Laughter in The Mrs Merton Show ............. 121

Birgit Meerholz-Haerle

“Listen to this one...”: Teachers Sharing Stories and Shaping Policies ......................... 137

Polly Walsh

Investigating Interactional Variation in Interview-Type Speaking Tests ......................... 147
Julia Bamford
Question and Answer Sequencing in Academic Lectures...........................................159

Luis Pérez-González
Agenda Negotiation in Emergency Calls: Modelling the Dynamics of Frictional Encounters.................................................................171

Boris Pritchard and Damir Kalogjera
On Some Features of Conversation in Maritime VHF Communication.............185

Almut Koester
Getting Things Done and Getting Along in the Office............................................197

Agnès Witko et Michèle Grosjean
Les Réunions en Contexte Institutionnel et Leur Formalité..............................209

Joanna Channell
Working on the Telephone – How Telephone Receptionists Work With Language..........................................................................................221

Julia Gillen
“It’s not really time for going home”: Three- and Four-Year Old Children Learning to Talk on the Telephone.................................................231

Christian Hudelot et Christine Berger

Michèle Grossen
Therapist-Child Dialogues in Clinical Interviews..................................................257

Alison Ferguson
Understanding Paragrammatism: Contributions from Conversation Analysis and Systemic Functional Linguistics........................................271

Branca Telles Ribeiro
Listening to Narratives in Psychiatric Interviews..................................................283

Klaus P. Schneider
Diminutives in Discourse: Sequential Aspects of Diminutive Use in Spoken Interaction.................................................................293
Carol Marley
Trading Talk? Interaction in Written Dating Advertisements..................301

Fathi Dali
Code-Switching and Dialogism in Lolita..............................................315

Murray Knowles
‘Suffering is Good for the Soul’: Dialogue and Ideology in Traditional
Juvenile Fiction................................................................................325

Dorota Pacek
Wordplay and Nonsense in Polish Translations of Dialogues in Alice’s Adventures in Wonderland.........................................................335

Josiane Boutonnet
Verbal Humour as the Ultimate Level in Language Learning: Accessing the Contextual Properties of Humour in Everyday Conversation........347

Susan Mandala
Talk in the Mind: Scripted Dialogues and Mental Scripts...................357

Rosamund Moon
Lexical Norms in Spoken English.......................................................371

Charles Owen
Naturally-Occurring and Artefactual Dialogue...................................387

Janet Cotterill
Multiple Voices: Monologue and Dialogue in the O. J. Simpson
Criminal Courtroom.........................................................................403

Malcolm Coulthard
Suppressed Dialogue in a Confession Statement...............................417

Ron Scollon
Hidden Dialogicality: When Infelicity Becomes Fear of Infringement.....425

List of Contributors...........................................................................441