List of Figures — XIII

List of Tables — XV

1 Introduction — 1
1.1 Examples of grammatical extractions from adjuncts — 3
1.2 Participle adjuncts and extraction patterns — 5
1.3 Empirical scope and focus — 6
1.4 Central research question and sketch of the proposal — 9
1.5 Conventions — 13
1.6 Outline — 14

2 Present participle adjuncts: structure and interpretation — 16
2.1 Research questions and chapter outline — 16
2.2 Towards a syntactic analysis of BPPAs — 17
2.2.1 Reduced adverbial clause analysis — 20
2.2.2 Converb construction analysis — 23
2.2.3 Depictive secondary predicate analysis — 26
2.2.4 Interim conclusion — 29
2.3 The interpretational space of BPPAs — 30
2.3.1 The semantics of depictives — 31
2.3.2 Event specification and expansion with co-eventive adjuncts — 35
2.3.3 Interpreting complex event structures — 40
2.4 Licensing conditions on depictive constructions — 45
2.4.1 Licensing conditions on the depictive — 46
2.4.2 Licensing conditions on the host predicate — 50
2.4.3 Resultative BPPA constructions — 57
2.5 Chapter conclusion — 60

3 Previous approaches to extraction from adjuncts — 63
3.1 Research questions and chapter outline — 63
3.2 Syntactic gap-licensing accounts — 67
3.2.1 Optional feature sharing (Boeckx 2003; Oseki 2015) — 67
3.2.2 Attachment height and forced spell-out (Narita 2014) — 71
3.2.3 Top-down structure building (den Dikken 2018) — 74
3.2.4 Interim conclusion — 77
3.3 Interaction accounts — 78
3.3.1 Reanalysis (Demonte 1988) — 78
3.3.2 Reflexivity (Borgonovo & Neeleman 2000) — 82
3.3.3 Aspectual classes and extraction (Truswell 2007) — 87
3.3.4 Event groupings and agentivity (Truswell 2011) — 97
3.3.5 Semantically conditioned feature inactivity (Ernst 2022) — 108
3.3.6 Spanish gerund complements (París 2003) — 112
3.3.7 Maximal event templates (Fábregas & Jiménez-Fernández 2016a,b) — 118
3.3.8 Pragmatic conditions on extraction (Chaves & Putnam 2020) — 125
3.3.9 Coherence and extraction from adverbial clauses (C. Müller 2019) — 134
3.3.10 Interim conclusion — 138
3.4 An independence approach (Brown 2017) — 138
3.5 Chapter conclusion — 150

4 Experimental evidence — 153
4.1 Research questions and chapter outline — 153
4.2 Categorical and factorial models of acceptability — 155
4.3 Factors — 158
4.3.1 General factors relevant to extraction from islands — 158
4.3.2 Specific factors for adjunct islands — 160
4.4 Methodology — 162
4.5 Study series 1: Event structure — 166
4.5.1 Experiment 1: Aspectual classes across constructions — 167
4.5.2 Experiment 2: Event structure in declaratives and interrogatives — 178
4.5.3 Experiment 3: Adjunct integration — 183
4.5.4 Interim conclusion for study series 1 — 188
4.6 Study series 2: Grammatical verb type — 190
4.6.1 Experiment 4: Transitives, unaccusatives, and unergatives — 192
4.6.2 Experiment 5: Complex unaccusatives and transitives — 200
4.6.3 Interim conclusion for study series 2 — 206
4.7 Study series 3: get-predicates and achievements — 206
4.7.1 Experiment 6: get-predicates — 209
4.7.2 Experiment 7: Progressive achievements — 220
4.7.3 Experiment 8: get-predicates & achievements — 228
