Contents

Preface by the Director of UNRISD ........................................ VI
Foreword by the Editor .................................................... VII
Introduction and Acknowledgments ................................. IX

CHAPTER I / GENERAL CONDITIONS OF REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT ........................................ 1
   1. The inherited level of development; 2. Characteristics of regional structure at the beginning of the industrialization process; 3. Some aspects of social development between the wars; 4. Social changes and the status of regional development; 5. The philosophy of general development.

CHAPTER II / CHANGES IN THE ECONOMIC STRUCTURE OF REGIONS ................................ 30

CHAPTER III / CHANGES IN THE STRUCTURE OF SETTLEMENTS ........................................ 82
   1. The urbanization process: a) problems of rural settlements; b) small towns; c) medium-sized towns; d) big towns; e) new towns; 2. The urbanization policy.

CHAPTER IV / CHANGES IN SOCIAL STRUCTURE ......................................................... 102
CHAPTER V / THE INSTITUTIONAL CONTEXT  120

CHAPTER VI / CONCLUSION  147

1. Main tendencies in regional development; 2. Regional development policy; 3. Present status of regional development; 4. Regional development research priorities: a) need for a theory; b) social development problems within regions; c) broader range and scale of regional development; d) the institutional context; 5. Methods of regional development; 6. Methodology and statistics; 7. The significance for the developing countries of the socialist countries' experience in regional development.

ANNEXE I / SELECTED STATISTICS, by K. Mihailović  163

ANNEXE II / PRINCIPAL DATA ON SOCIO-ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT OF SELECTED SOCIALIST COUNTRIES 1950-1970, by W. Kawalec  209

ANNEXE III / GENERAL MAPS OF EASTERN EUROPE, by T. Lijewski  217

BIBLIOGRAPHY  221