Contents

Acknowledgements 1
List of Acronyms 3
Palestinian Camps in Lebanon 4
Lebanese Presidents 4
Chronology 5
Introduction 6
Some Theoretical Premises 8
1. Observation-linked Dilemmas and Modes of Self-Integration as a Researcher 11
   1.1. Becoming a Participatory Observer in a Heterogeneous Field 11
   1.2. Trust and Transparency 16
   1.3. Plots and Conspiracy Theories 18
2. Some Basic Patterns of Lebanese Society 23
   2.2. Continued Fear and Trauma in a Multiconfessional Environment 29
   2.3. A Shattered Lebanese State 35
   2.4. Reinforcing Patronage and the Honor-Code 42
   2.5. Kinship as the Core Affiliative Concept 50
   2.6. Conclusion 54
3. Responses to the Palestinian Refugee Influx 55
   3.1. The Flight from Palestine 55
   3.2. The Rejection of Resettlement 57
   3.3. Syria and Jordan: The Rationale for Integration 60
   3.4. The Refugees in Lebanese Demographic Politics 62
4. Palestinians as Strong Players in the Lebanese Arena 73
   4.1. The Camp Refugees Before 1964 73
   4.2. The Cairo Agreement: a Landmark in Palestinian-Lebanese Relations 77
   4.3. The Benefits of the Cairo Agreement for the Palestinian Refugees 80
   4.4. Symbols of Empowerment: The Palestinian Fighters 82
   4.5. The New Patrons in the Lebanese Arena 85
   4.6. Parallel and Conflicting Developments: The Emancipation of the Palestinians and the Shiites 98
5. Finding Partners in Lebanon Today 113
   5.1. Ideological Umbrellas 113
   5.2. Islamic Parties and Congregations: The Muslim Brotherhood, A'bash, Maqasid, and Hizballah 114
   5.3. Discrimination and the Legacy of the Past 121
   5.4. Reconnecting with Civil Society 124
6. Coherence and Diversity in the Palestinian Refugee Community 129
   6.1. Palestinian Identities near and within the Camps 129
   6.2. The Palestinian Middle Class – Far away from the Camps 133
   6.3. Palestinian Society before 1948 135
   6.4. Becoming Refugees and Dissolving Former Ties 143
   6.5. The Question of Palestinian Return 147
6.6. Between Integration into the Host Country and Loyalty to the National Cause 151
6.7. The Concept of Origin in a Competitive Environment 158
7. Kinship as a Form of Integration 163
   7.1. Who is going to marry whom? 163
   7.2. Genealogical Purity, the Ideal Match, and its Pitfalls 164
   7.3. Palestinian-Lebanese Intermarriage: Varying Contexts 168
Epilogue 175
Bibliography 177
Index 201