EDITORIAL BOARD
James N. Adams †, All Souls College, Oxford
Hugo Beikircher, Thesaurus Linguae Latinae, München
Bernard Bortolussi, Université de Paris X, Nanterre
Ramón Gutiérrez González, Universidad de Almería
Marco Mancini, Università di Roma “La Sapienza”
Piera Molinelli, Università di Bergamo
Anna Orlandini, Università di Bologna
Harm Pinkster †, Universiteit van Amsterdam
Hannah Rosén, The Hebrew University of Jerusalem
Donna Shalev, The Hebrew University of Jerusalem
Heikki Solin, Helsinki University
Lyliane Sznajder, Université de Paris X, Nanterre
Javier Uría, Universidad de Zaragoza

ADVISORY BOARD
Philip Baldi, Penn State University
Tommaso Del Vecchio, Università di Bologna
Giovanbattista Galdi, University of Ghent
Gerd Haverling, Uppsala Universitet
Adam Ledgeway, University of Cambridge
Maria Napoli, Università degli studi del Piemonte Orientale
Davide Ricca, Università di Torino
Olga Spevak, Université de Toulouse
With deep sorrow and great sadness we inform our readers that two outstanding scholars in our field have passed away.

James N. Adams, Emeritus Fellow at All Souls College, Oxford, member of the Editorial Board of the Journal of Latin Linguistics, died on 11 October 2021. His volumes on the history of Latin from a sociolinguistics viewpoint both on lexicon and morphosyntax have been decisive in opening new perspectives on Latin.

Harm Pinkster, Professor Emeritus of Latin at the University of Amsterdam, member of the Editorial Board of the Journal of Latin Linguistics from the beginning, passed away on 14 December 2021. As a classicist he co-authored the great commentary on Cicero’s de oratore (with A. D. Leeman), while as a linguist he gave a fundamental contribution on Latin adverbs, he wrote an excellent handbook on Latin syntax and had just completed the Oxford Latin Syntax in two volumes. He also was the leading figure who initiated the Colloquia on Latin Linguistics.

The scientific community mourns two great scholars and two generous teachers who made others thrive. Requiescant in pace.
Contents

Articles

Anne-Li Demonie
The complementary distribution between nē and nōn revisited: a semantic approach to wish and result clauses — 135

Alessandro Buccheri, Irene De Felice, Chiara Fedriani and William M. Short
Semantic analysis and frequency effects of conceptual metaphors of emotions in Latin. From a corpus-based approach to a dictionary of Latin metaphors — 163

Barbora Machajdíková and Ľudmila Eliášová Buzássyová
Vowel deletion before sibilant-stop clusters in Latin: issues of syllabification, lexicon and diachrony — 191

Josine Schrickx
The lexicographical approach to remittere in the Thesaurus linguae Latinae (compared with dimittere and mittere) — 239

Nicholas Zair
Word-final -s in Ennius’ Annales: a sociolinguistic approach — 265