This study was supported by a generous grant from the National Science Foundation as well as through a Guggenheim Fellowship. In addition, part of my work was aided by funds obtained from the Population Research Center, University of Chicago. I benefited from helpful conversations with Rudolph M. Bell, Albert J. Bergesen, Charles E. Bidwell, Edna Bonacich, James T. Borhek, Vernon Carstensen, Richard F. Curtis, Beverly Duncan, Otis Dudley Duncan, Neil D. Fligstein, John Hope Franklin, Avery Guest, Philip M. Hauser, Charles Hirschman, Michael Hout, Morris Janowitz, Evelyn M. Kitagawa, Patricia L. MacCorquodale, Jerry L. L. Miller, S. Frank Miyamoto, Donnell M. Pappenfort, Donald Weinstein, William Julius Wilson, and Wendy C. Wolf. Most important of all, several superb graduate students helped out, not merely by digging up references and running the data, but also by giving me their ideas and commenting on mine. My deepest appreciation is extended to Donna K. Carter, Guy C. Dalto, Mary Ellen Marsden, and Joan Talbert. Much of the manuscript was typed by Sandy Goers who, as always, contributed useful suggestions while doing an outstanding job. Additional computing help was provided by David Craigie, Irene Rubin, Theodore Shen, Mark Warr, and Christy Wilkinson. Jacqueline Adams-Thomson was largely responsible for the index.
