

Contents

List of Illustrations	xi
Preface	xv

PART I. FROM THE DISCOVERY TO THE REVOLUTION

1

THE BEGINNINGS, 1000–1700	3
Early Explorers and Native Grapes	6
The Promise of Virginia Wine	12
The Other Colonies in the Seventeenth Century	29

2

THE GEORGIA EXPERIMENT	40
------------------------	----

3

VIRGINIA AND THE SOUTH IN THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY	55
South Carolina; Florida; North Carolina	55
Domestic Winemaking in Virginia	62
Public Interest and Public Support	69

4

OTHER COLONIES AND COMMUNITIES BEFORE THE REVOLUTION	83
Maryland and Pennsylvania: The Discovery of the Alexander Grape	83
The Royal Society of Arts Competition	89
The Contribution of Continental Emigrants: The Huguenots and St. Pierre	94
Other Huguenot Communities	100
The Contribution of Continental Emigrants: The Germans	102

PART II. THE ESTABLISHMENT OF AN INDUSTRY

5

FROM THE REVOLUTION TO THE BEGINNINGS OF A NATIVE INDUSTRY	107
Peter Legaux and the Pennsylvania Vine Company	107
Other Pioneers in the Early Republic	114
Dufour and the Beginning of Commercial Production	117
The Spirit of Jefferson and Early American Winegrowing	126

6

THE EARLY REPUBLIC, CONTINUED	130
George Rapp and New Harmony	130
Bonapartists in the Mississippi Territory	135
John Adlum, "Father of American Viticulture"	139
The South in the Early Republic	149

7

THE SPREAD OF COMMERCIAL WINEGROWING	156
Nicholas Longworth and the Cincinnati Region	156
The Missouri Germans	174
The Development of Winegrowing in New York State	187

8

EASTERN VITICULTURE COMES OF AGE	203
The Rise of Hybrid Grapes	203
The Creation of Institutional Supports for Winegrowing	216
The Grape Boom in the Old South	222

PART III. THE DEVELOPMENT OF CALIFORNIA

9

THE SOUTHWEST AND CALIFORNIA	233
Early Winegrowing in New Mexico	233
Winegrowing in the California Mission Period	237
The Beginning of Commercial Winegrowing in Southern California	243
The Beginnings in Northern California	258

10

THE HARASZTHY LEGEND	269
----------------------	-----

11

THE FATE OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA	285
The Rise and Fall of Anaheim	285
The San Gabriel Valley	294

12

CALIFORNIA TO THE END OF THE CENTURY	310
Changing Patterns and the Development of New Regions	310
Large-Scale Investment in California Winegrowing	321
Italian Swiss Colony and the Italian Contribution	327
Communal Organizations and Winegrowing	331
Winegrowing in Sonoma County: A Model of the Whole	336

13

CALIFORNIA: GROWING PAINS AND GROWING UP	341
Organizations and State Support: The Board of State Viticultural Commissioners	341
The Board's Rival: The University of California	350
Marketing Problems in the Late Nineteenth Century: The California Wine Association	355
The Growth of Related Trades and a Literature of Wine	363
Climax and Collapse	368

PART IV. THE INDUSTRY ACROSS THE NATION

14

THE EASTERN UNITED STATES: FROM THE CIVIL WAR TO PROHIBITION	373
Eastern Wine and Eastern Grape Juice	374
Missouri, Kansas, and the Midwest	390

15

THE SOUTHWEST; THE SOUTH; OTHER STATES	404
Arkansas, Texas, and Oklahoma	404
The South	411
Other States	419

16

THE END OF THE BEGINNING: NATIONAL PROHIBITION	425
--	-----

Appendix I. Fox Grapes and Foxiness	443
Appendix II. The Language of Wine in English	448
Notes	453
Works Cited	505
Index	525