Note to the Reader

Because rape victims are predominantly women, and rapists are usually men, my pronoun usage reflects that reality. Similarly, because most prosecutors and defense counsel are men, and even women lawyers trying rape cases usually mirror male lawyers’ ways of speaking, I refer to prosecutors and defense counsel by the pronouns “he” and “his.”