Contents

Foreword vii
    Jennifer R. Wies and Hillary J. Haldane

Introduction: Recognition: Where Our Embodiment Entangled Us 1
    April D. J. Petillo and Heather R. Hlavka

Part I: Naming: Intersectional Entanglements and Embodied Experiences 9

1. Embodied and Entangled: Addressing the Methodological Challenges of Feminist Gender Violence Research 15
    April D. J. Petillo and Heather R. Hlavka

2. “Sometimes There Just Ain’t No Magic in This”: Black Women at the Nexus of Gendered Violence and Erasure 27
    Brendane Tynes

3. Interwoven Violence: Gender-Based Violence, Haunting, and Violence Research in Milpa Alta, Mexico City 43
    Catherine Whittaker

4. The Language of Dissent: A Conversation between a Researcher and Participant-Turned-Collaborator on Studying Domestic Violence 57
    Dawn Moore and Stephanie Hofeller

Part II: Being: Reflective Entanglements and (Academic) Violence by Another Name 73

5. From Frontline Worker to Anthropologist: Shifting My Gaze on Intimate Partner Violence 79
    Allison Bloom
6. “Can You Tell Me a Story?”: Speaking Alongside Anti-Trafficking Narratives
   Corinne Schwarz

7. What Gets Lost: At the Intersection of Gender-Based Violence and Racist Scholarship of the Arab Gulf
   Hasnaa Mokhtar

PART III: WITNESSING: ENTANGLEMENTS THAT HUMANIZE OUR METHODOLOGIES

8. “Just a Darling Little Girl”: Attorneys, Power, and Notes from the Field in Research on Sexual Violence
   Jamie L. Small

   Noelle Brigden

10. Intersectionality in the Courts: Collaborative Feminist Ethnography of Sexual Assault Adjudication
    Amber Joy Powell, Sameena Mulla, and Heather R. Hlavka

Conclusion: Imagining: The Embrace of an Entangled, Embodied Methodological Future
   April D. J. Petillo and Heather R. Hlavka

Acknowledgments

About the Editors

About the Contributors

Index