Acknowledgments   ix

Introduction   3
EDGAR-ANDRÉ MONTIGNY

1 Setting Public Policy on Drugs: A Choice of Social Values   25
   LINE BEAUCHESNE

2 ‘Unmaking Manly Smokes’: Church, State, Governance, and the First Anti-Smoking Campaigns in Montreal, 1892–1914   59
   JARRETT RUDY

3 From Flapper to Sophisticate: Canadian Women University Students as Smokers, 1920–60   83
   SHARON ANNE COOK

4 ‘Their Medley of Tongues and Eternal Jangle’: Liquor Control and Ethnicity in Ontario, 1927–44   123
   DAN MALLECK

5 Becoming a ‘Hype’: Drug Laws, Subculture Formation, and Resistance in Canada, 1945–61   148
   CATHERINE CARSTAIRS

6 ‘Just Say Know’: Criminalizing LSD and the Politics of Psychedelic Expertise, 1961–8   169
   ERIKA DYCK
viii Contents

7 Setting Boundaries: LSD Use and Glue Sniffing in Ontario in the 1960s 197
MARCEL MARTEL

8 From Beverage to Drug: Alcohol and Other Drugs in 1960s and 1970s Canada 219
GREG MARQUIS

9 Considering the Revolving Door: The Inevitability of Addiction Treatment in the Criminal Justice System 242
DAWN MOORE

10 Biopolitics, Geopolitics, and the Regulation of Club Drugs in Canada 264
KYLE GRAYSON

Afterword: A Personal Reflection on the Law and Illicit-Drug Use 285
ALAN YOUNG

Contributors 303

Index 307