THEMES IN BUSINESS AND SOCIETY

Editor: Dimitry Anastakis

Themes in Business and Society explores new issues in Canadian and international business history. The series advances Canadian business history in a global context by publishing studies that examine firms, entrepreneurs, consumers, industries, the evolution of capitalism, business-government relations, the role of the state and regulation, and the changing business environment in national and international contexts. Supported by the L.R. Wilson/R.J. Currie Chair in Canadian Business History at the University of Toronto and the Rotman School of Management, Themes in Business and Society provides new perspectives on the central role and tremendous impact of business upon ordinary people, both in Canada and around the world.
