Contents

Preface ix
Acknowledgments xiii

1 The Diversification of Diversity 3
   Toronto the Good: Critical Contexts 6
   Toronto the Good: The Research Project 9
   Organization of the Book 20

2 Theoretical Concepts 22
   Racialization and Race 23
   Abjection 24
   Discourse, Power, and Space 25
   Belonging 32
   On Diversity Discourse, Race, Belonging, and Space 37

3 Being Exceptional: Moving Diversity Beyond Race 39
   Embodying Progress: Equity, Inclusion, and Intersectionality 40
   Moving Beyond Race in Text 47
   Not Seeing 58
   Exceptional via the “Outside” 62
   On Diversity and Racial Inclusion 64

4 Being Like No Other: Building Inside(r) Relations Through Race 66
   Anti-racism Like No Other 69
   Diversity Like No Other 75
   Invoking the Stereotype 79
   On Being Like No Other: Final Thoughts 87

5 Being Through Consultation 91
   Consultation, Democracy, and Diversity 93
   Being Through Commodification 96
Contents

Commodification Through Recirculation  103
Through Consultation: Final Thoughts  105
6  On Diversity Discourse and the Problem of Agency  110
   Toronto the Good: Critical Insights  111
   On the Problem of Agency  117

Notes  125
References  133
Index  147