Table of Contents

Table of Contents .......................................................... v
Acknowledgments ............................................................. vii
Preface ............................................................................. ix
Introduction ...................................................................... 1
Part One. People, Institutions, Journals, and Academic
  Conferences .................................................................... 17
Part Two. Collation and Publication of Reference Books and Historical Materials ....................................................... 33
Part Three. Research in the Field of History ....................... 43
Part Four. Research in the Field of Religion—Centered on Chinese Islamic Studies .................................................. 75
Part Five. Research in the Field of Religion—Centered on World Islamic Studies ..................................................... 99
Part Six. Research in the Field of Philosophy ...................... 119
Part Seven. Research in Political and Social Fields .............. 135
Part Eight. Research in Culture and Other Fields ............... 149
Summary. Islamic Studies in China ..................................... 173
Appendix 1. Summary: Chinese Islamic Studies in the West ... 179
Appendix 2. Summary: Chinese Islamic Studies in Japan ...... 197
Appendix 3. A Survey of “Uyghurs” in Nanjing—Misconduct and Correct Analysis ....................................................... 213
Bibliography .................................................................... 221