Contents

INTRODUCTION

OF THE RUSSE COMMONWEALTH

1. The description of the Countrie of Russia, with the breadth, length, and names of the Shires. 1
2. Of the Soyle and Climate. 3
3. The Natiue commodities of the Countrie. 6
4. The chiefe Cities of Russia. 12
5. Of the house or stocke of the Russe Emperours. 14
6. Of the manner of crowning or inauguration of the Russe Emperours. 17
7. The State or forme of their Gouernment. 20
8. The manner of holding their Parliaments. 22
9. Of the Nobilitie, and by what meanes it is kept in an vnder proportion agreeable to that State. 24
10. Of the government of their Prouinces and Shires. 29
11. Of the Emperours Counsell. 34
12. Of the Emperours customes and other Reuenues. 36
13. Of the state of the Communaltie, or vulgar sorte of people in the countrie of Russia. 45
14. Of their publique Iustice, and manner of proceeding in ciuill, and criminall matters. 49
15. Their forces for the warres, with the chief officers and their salaries. 53
16. Of their mustering, and leuying of forces, manner of armour, and prouision of victuall for the warres. 57

[vii]
Contents

17. Of their marching, charging, and other Martiall discipline. 59v
18. Of their Colonies, and mainteyning of their conquests, or purchases by force. 61v
19. Of the Tartars, and other borderers to the Countrie of Russia, with whome they haue most to doo in warre, and peace. 65
20. Of the Permians Samoites, and Lappes. 75v
21. Of their Ecclesiasticall state, with their Church offices. 78
22. Of their Leiturgie, or forme of Church-service, and their manner of administring the Sacraments. 91v
23. Of the doctrine of the Russe church, and what errours it holdeth. 96v
24. Of the manner of solemnizing their Marriages. 100
25. Of the other Ceremonies of the Russe Church. 102v
26. Of the Emperours domestike or priuate behauiour. 107
27. Of the Emperours priuate, or householde Officers. 110v
28. Of the priuate behauiour, or qualitie of the Russe people. 112

APPENDICES

A. Fletcher’s Report on his Embassy [43]
B. Fletcher’s Recommendations [54]
C. The Merchant’s Protest [61]

Bibliography [65]

Glossary-Index [69]