Contents

Acknowledgments
Introduction
1. Sexual Difference as a Basis of Equality: An Introduction to Irigarayan Politics
2. Irigaray on Language: From the Speech of Dementia to the Problem of Sexual Indifference
3. Rethinking the Politics of Recognition: The Declaration of Irigarayan Sexuate Rights
4. Irigarayan Performativity: Is This a Question of Can Saying It Make It So?
5. Sexuate Genre: Ethics and Politics for Improper Selves
6. Anticipating Sexual Difference: Mediation, Love, and Divinity
7. Interrogating an Unasked Question: Is There Sexual Difference?
8. The Impossible Friend: Traversing the Heterosocial, the Homosocial, and the Successes of Failure
9. Sexed Discourse and the Language of the Philosophers: To Be Two
10. Effacement Redoubled? Between East and West

Conclusion
Notes
References
Index