Notes on contributors

Mats Berdal is Professor of Security and Development in the Department of War Studies at King’s College London. His recent publications include ‘United Nations peacekeeping and the responsibility to protect’, which appeared in Theorising the Responsibility to Protect, edited by Ramesh Thakur and William Maley (Cambridge University Press, 2015), and ‘The state of UN peacekeeping: Lessons from Congo’ (Journal for Strategic Studies, 2016). In 2015–16, he served as a Member of the Commission of Inquiry on Afghanistan set up by the Norwegian government to evaluate Norway’s civilian and military involvement in Afghanistan from 2001 to 2014. His latest publication is ‘NATO’s landscape of the mind: Stabilisation and statebuilding in Afghanistan’ (Ethnopolitics, 2019, online first).

Sarah von Billerbeck is Lecturer in Politics and International Relations and co-Director of the UN and Global Order Programme at the University of Reading. She is the author of Whose Peace? Local Ownership and United Nations Peacekeeping (Oxford University Press, 2017) and has published numerous articles on the UN, peace operations, international organisations, and legitimacy. She has been a Visiting Research Fellow of the University of Oxford and served as Reviews Editor for International Peacekeeping. She previously served as a Political Affairs Officer for the UN peacekeeping operation in Congo (MONUC). Her latest publications are “‘Mirror, mirror on the wall’: Self-legitimation by international organizations’ (International Studies Quarterly, 2020) and ‘No action without talk? UN peacekeeping, discourse, and institutional self-legitimation’ (Review of International Studies, 2020).
Notes on contributors

Ingvild Bode is Senior Lecturer in International Relations at the University of Kent. She is the author of Individual Agency and Policy Change at the United Nations (Routledge, 2015) and the co-author of Governing the Use-of-Force: The Post-9/11 US Challenge on International Law (Palgrave, 2014, with Aiden Warren). She has published in journals such as the European Journal of International Relations, Global Governance, and Review of International Studies. Ingvild is Associate Editor of Global Society: Journal of Interdisciplinary International Relations and a member of the Board of Directors, Academic Council on the United Nations System (ACUNS).

Philip Cunliffe is Senior Lecturer in International Conflict at the University of Kent. He is the author of Legions of Peace: UN Peacekeepers from the Global South (Hurst, 2013) and Cosmopolitan Dystopia: International Intervention and the Failure of the West (Manchester University Press, 2020). He is the Editor-in-Chief of International Peacekeeping. He is also a founding member and co-chair of the British International Studies Association Peacekeeping and Peacebuilding Working Group. His latest publication is ‘Framing intervention in a multipolar world’ (Conflict, Security and Development, 2019).

Georgina Holmes is a Leverhulme Early Career Research Fellow in the Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Reading. She is a founding member and co-convener of the BISA Peacekeeping and Peacebuilding Working Group and Visiting Research Fellow at the National University of Rwanda. Her research examines how women are integrated into peacekeeping operations; norms and practices in peacekeeping, peacekeeping training, and

Charles T. Hunt is Vice-Chancellor’s Senior Research Fellow and ARC DECRA Fellow at the Social & Global Studies Centre in the School of Global, Urban and Social Studies at RMIT University, Melbourne, and a non-resident Research Fellow at the UN University Centre for Policy Research (UNU-CPR), New York. He is Editor-in-Chief of Global Responsibility to Protect and on the editorial board of the Journal of International Peacekeeping. He is author or editor of six books on issues of peace, conflict and human protection, including UN Peace Operations and International Policing (Routledge, 2015). His latest articles include ‘UN stabilisation operations and the problem of non-linear change’ (Stability, 2020, with Adam Day) and ‘Stabilization at the expense of peacebuilding in UN peacekeeping operations: More than just a phase?’ (Global Governance, 2020, with David Curran).

John Karlsrud is Research Professor at the Norwegian Institute of International Affairs. He is a member of the Editorial Boards of, inter alia, the journals International Peacekeeping and Contemporary Security Policy. Karlsrud has been a Visiting Fulbright Fellow at the Center on International Cooperation at New York University and visiting Research Fellow at the International Peace Institute. He has recently published Multinational Rapid Response Mechanisms: From Institutional Proliferation to Institutional Exploitation (Routledge, 2019, with Yf Reykers). His latest article is ‘From liberal peacebuilding to stabilization and counterterrorism’ (International Peacekeeping, 2019). His latest book is The UN at War (Palgrave, 2018).
Marion Laurence is Research Fellow at the Centre for International Policy Studies and the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs at the University of Ottawa. She holds a PhD from the University of Toronto. Her research has been supported by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC), the Ontario government, the University of Toronto, and Global Affairs Canada. Her latest publication is ‘An “impartial” force? Normative ambiguity and practice change in UN peace operations’ (International Peacekeeping, 2019).

Lucile Maertens is Lecturer in Political Science and International Relations at the University of Lausanne and Associate Faculty at the Center for International Studies at Sciences Po Paris. She is currently director of the Centre of International History and Political Studies of Globalization at the University of Lausanne. She was a visiting fellow at the Montreal Centre for International Studies at the University of Montreal, the Center for International Earth Science Information Network at the Columbia University, and the Department of War Studies at King’s College London. Her latest publication is ‘From blue to green? Environmentalization and securitization in UN peacekeeping practices’ (International Peacekeeping, 2019).

Carla Monteleone is Professor of Political Science and International Relations at the University of Palermo. She has been a visiting scholar at Columbia University and Georgetown University, and she was awarded a Fulbright Schuman scholarship. She has contributed to several national and international research projects, including on Italian foreign policy, on the impact of the Eurozone crisis on the Europeanisation of the foreign policy of southern EU member states, on the role of the United States in the contemporary spatially fragmented international system, and on American military bases in Europe. She is currently on the editorial board of the Journal of Transatlantic Studies. Her latest book is Italy in Uncertain
Notes on contributors

Kseniya Oksamytna is Research Associate on an ESRC-funded project ‘Democratization and UN Peacebuilding’ in the Department of War Studies at King’s College London. She has published on the UN Security Council’s engagement with human rights NGOs, Ukraine’s participation in peacekeeping, and the EU’s military training mission in Somalia. She has recently co-edited a special section ‘Norms and practices in UN peacekeeping: Evolution and contestation’ (International Peacekeeping, 2019, with John Karlsrud). Her latest articles are ‘Leadership selection in United Nations Peacekeeping’ (International Studies Quarterly, 2020, with Vincenzo Bove and Magnus Lundgren) and ‘Decorating the “Christmas Tree”: The UN Security Council and the Secretariat’s recommendations on peacekeeping operations’ (Global Governance, 2020, with Magnus Lundgren).

Yf Reykers is Assistant Professor in International Relations at the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences at Maastricht University. He was a Research Fellow at KU Leuven and a visiting scholar at the Center on International Cooperation (CIC) at New York University and at the Department of Political Science at Aarhus University. His work has been published in, amongst others, Contemporary Security Policy, Cooperation and Conflict, European Security, International Peacekeeping, and Parliamentary Affairs. He is co-editor of the volume Multinational Rapid Response Mechanisms: From Institutional Proliferation to Institutional Exploitation (Routledge, 2019, with John Karlsrud).

Emily Paddon Rhoads is Assistant Professor of Political Science at Swarthmore College. She has been a visiting scholar at Columbia University, the International Peace Institute, and the Sauve Foundation. She is the author of Taking Sides in Peacekeeping: Impartiality and the Future of the United Nations (Oxford University Press, 2016) and several articles on civilian protection, humanitarianism, and peacekeeping. Her latest articles are ‘Putting human rights up front: Implications for impartiality and the politics of UN peacekeeping’ (International Peacekeeping, 2019) and ‘Close cousins in protection: The evolution of two norms’ (International Affairs, 2019, with Jennifer Welsh).
Notes on contributors