Contents

List of Illustrations vii
List of Abbreviations ix
Acknowledgments xiii

1. Introduction 1
   Gender and Religious Deviance 1
   Lollardy 7
   Sources 10
   The Communities 15

2. The Lollards of Coventry 22
   The Lollard Prosecutions in Coventry 23
   The Coventry Conventicles 25
   Coventry’s Civic Oligarchy and the Lollard Community 37
   The Coventry Lollard Community in Perspective 45

3. The Lollard Communities 47
   Schools and Conventicles 49
   Lollard Activities Outside the Conventicles 66
   Lollards and Recruitment to the Sect 72

4. Lollards and the Family 80
   Lollard Beliefs and the Family 82
   Family Relationships in the Lollard Communities 87
Contents

5. Gender and Social Status 108
   Prominent Women in Lollardy 109
   Prominent Men and Elite Men in Lollardy 124

6. Conclusion: Lollardy, Gender, and Late Medieval Religious Culture 137
   Women and Late Medieval Religion 138
   Lollardy and Orthodoxy 142
   Gender and Religion 148

Appendix. The Lollard Communities 151
   Alnwick's Prosecutions in East Anglia, 1428–31 151
   Chedworth's Prosecutions in the Chiltern Hills, 1462–64 152
   Langton's Prosecutions in the Diocese of Salisbury, 1485–91 153
   J. Blythe's Prosecutions in the Diocese of Salisbury, 1499 153
   Audley's Prosecutions in the Diocese of Salisbury, 1502–21 154
   Prosecutions and Detections in the Dioceses of Salisbury and Winchester Before Bishop Longland, c. 1521 155
   Smith's and Longland's Prosecutions in the Diocese of Lincoln, 1500–1530 156
   Prosecutions in London and Environs and Hertfordshire, 1500–1530 160
   Prosecutions in Essex and Hertfordshire, 1500–1530 161
   Warham's Prosecutions in the Diocese of Canterbury, 1511–12 163
   Hales's and G. Blyth's Prosecutions in Coventry, 1485–1512 164
   Totals 165

Notes 167

Works Cited 223

Index 241