
Allgemeines

Benutzung
Z 09/04. Mico-Sanz, Josep-Lluis; Masip-Masip, Pere; Garcia-Aviles, Jose-Alberto : Journalists as News Librarians (and Viceversa?). New Relationships between Newsroom and Archive after Media Digitization. [Digitization of media archives has improved both news librarians’ and journalists’ work. However, a significant proportion of Spanish journalists prefer searching for information on the Internet rather than in archives.] In: Profesional de la Informacion 18 (2009) 3, S. 284-290.

Z 09/05. Murphy, Joe: Using Mobile Devices for Research: Smartphones, Databases, and Libraries. [Newspapers, both national ones and local city dailies, are now available in mobile versions that can be read on a cell phone screen.] In: Online 34 (2010) 3, S. 14-18.

Bestandsaufbau / Erwerbung

Bestandserschließung / Katalogisierung
Z 09/11. Seaman, David; Pawlek, Cyndy: Next-generation Library Catalogues: Review of Summon. [The Summon service, now in a wider beta-testing phase, is a bold and inno-ative attempt to address a pressing problem: how to move on from the confusing array of services, indices, destination sites and catalogs that users now must navigate to access the libraries’ rich and growing print and electronic collections.] In: Serials 22 (2009) 1, S. 74-77.

Bestandsnachweise

Z 09/12. Simon, James T.: World Newspaper Archive [The World Newspaper Archive is an ongoing collaborative digital project of the Center for Research Libraries and its partner institutions to preserve historical newspapers and news-related materials from around the globe and provide persistent electronic access to them.] In: Slavic & East European Information Resources 10 (2009) 1, S. 82-87.

Bestandserhaltung / Restaurierung

Z 09/13. Das, Somnath: Preservation of Newspapers [This paper gives procedures for preserving newspaper, and various tools and software that Times Group is using for preservation of their publications.] In: DESIDOC Journal of Library & Information Technology, 29 (2009) 1, S. 72-75.

Digitalisierung

Z 09/15. Bogan, Kelli: Building the Haystack: A Look at Colby-Sawyer College’s Digital Library [the Cleveland Colby Colgate Archives embarked on a small digitization project to preserve the college’s history. This led to the creation of the Digital Newspaper Database, an online database that offers full-text access to the college’s student newspapers.] In: Microform & Imaging Review 38 (2009) 3, S. 94-98.

Z 09/18. Holley, Rose: Ramping it up: 10 lessons learnt in mass digitisation. In: OLC 24 (2010) 16, S. 16-24. [In 2007 the National Library of Australia (NLA) began a large-scale newspaper digitisation program that aimed to digitise one million pages (10 million articles) per year, with a view to increasing the volume over time and ramping up digitisation to include books and journals as well as newspapers. By the end of 2009 the NLA had learnt 10 key lessons about ramping up its digitisation activities into a mass-scale operation.] <http://eprints.rclis.org/18064/1/Personal_Ramping_it_Up_Online_CURRENT_March_2010_Final_published_j2v024_OLC_pt01_Holley.pdf>.

Z 09/23. Lanz, Daniel; Zamrdt, Frederick; Boddie, Stefan; Powell, Tracy; Salgotra, Vishal: The New Papers past: An International Collaboration between New Zealand, India, Germany, and the United States [The purpose of this paper is to discuss international collaboration on the Papers Past historic newspaper digitisation project, with particular focus on how to work together across four countries for a successful outcome.] In: OCLC Systems & Services: International Digital Library Perspectives 25 (2009) 4, S. 287-294.

Z 09/27. Reakes, Patrick; Ochoa, Marilyn: Non-Commercial Digital Newspaper Libraries: Considering Usability [In recent years newspaper digitization has moved to the forefront of efforts to provide this increased access to both historical and current newspapers. This article offers a brief overview of the unique challenges associated with creating non-commercial digital newspaper libraries and provides a preliminary look at the efficacy of these tools for the end user.] In: Internet Reference Services Quarterly 14 (2009) 3-4, S. 92-113.

Z 09/29. Skarstein, Vigdis Moe: A National Strategy for the Digital Preservation and Dissemination of Our Cultural Heritage [During the course of the last six months the National Library of Norway has signed agreements with three leading newspapers ensuring cooperation in the field of digitisation. These agreements contain three elements: constant delivery of material to the National Library’s digital store-house, collaboration on the digitisation of newspapers of historic importance and the right for the newspapers concerned to be made accessible in digital form throughout the library system.] In: Scandinavian Public Library Quarterly 43 (2010) 2, S. 12-13.

Z 09/31. Takle, Marianne: The Norwegian National Digital Library [Agreements on the digital deposit of certain newspapers and of books from some publishers have also been established.] In: Ariadne (2009) 60, o.S.

Rezensionen

Sammlungen

Verfilmung
Z 09/40. Davey, Donna L.: Uncovering Hidden Collections of Alternative Serials on Microfilm [ Many libraries have significant backlogs of uncataloged microforms. As attention has shifted toward digitized serials in recent years, unique holdings with high research value may be languishing untapped in the older, often overlooked formats of microfilm and microfiche.] In: The Serials Librarian Serials Librarian 57 (2009) 3, S. 223-232.

Verbände, Vereine und Tagungen