

70th Anniversary of Professor Maria Olech

Professor Maria Olech in Antarctica 2002.

This issue of Polish Polar Research is dedicated to Professor Maria Olech on her 70th birthday to honour her achievements in polar sciences, especially in lichenology and mycology of the Arctic and Antarctic.

Professor Maria Olech is the President of Editorial Advisory Board of Polish Polar Research, deputy chairperson of the Committee on Polar Research of the Polish Academy of Sciences, founder and long-term head of the Zdzisław Czepe Department of Polar Research and Documentation at the Institute of Botany of the Jagiellonian University (Kraków), a member of the Explorers Club and other scientific institutions connected with research in the polar regions.

We wish Professor Olech good health, much energy and further success in her scientific life and hope for lasting co-operation in polar research.

Committee on Polar Research of the Polish Academy of Sciences, Institute of Botany of the Jagiellonian University and Editorial Board and Editors of Polish Polar Research

doi: 10.2478/v10183-011-0014-8