UNIVERSITY PRESS

OUR PARTNERSHIP

As of 2015, Columbia University Press and De Gruyter have come together to bring Columbia University Press's high-quality content to an international market. This partnership covers a wide variety of CUP's academic frontlist titles as well as a large selection of backlist titles. The partnership will allow Columbia University Press to reach new readers across the world as part of the De Gruyter's Publisher Partner program.

ABOUT COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY PRESS

Columbia University Press was founded in 1893. With nearly 125 years of continuous publishing activities, it is the fourth-oldest university press in America. The Press publishes approximately 160 new titles every year reflecting its educational and research mission by making available outstanding original works by scholars and other intellectuals that contribute to an understanding of global human concerns. In its history the Press has published prominent authors from a variety of disciplines, including Theodor Adorno, Richard Allen, David Bordwell, Michel Chion, Rey Chow, Thomas Doherty, Todd Gitlin, Mikhail Gorbachev, Julia Kristeva, John Rawls, Philip Rosen, Janet Staiger, Joseph Stiglitz, Neil DeGrasse Tyson, and Robin Wood.
